

Short Course Applications Now Open

The Research Alliance for Disaster and Risk Reduction (RADAR), at Stellenbosch University is pleased to announce that applications for its fully accredited short courses are now open

Disasters and Development

12-14
October 2021

Online

Aim: To introduce basic disaster risk management principles and concepts, demonstrating the importance of risk reduction in development and planning

Learning outcomes: Participants will understand the urban risk environment in South Africa, the linkages between disasters and development, and the tools for reducing risk developmentally. Participants will also be familiar with relevant concepts and terminology and the global and South African policy context.

Duration: 3 days

Cost: R3 300. R2 000 for registered Stellenbosch University students

Community Risk Assessment

9-11
November
2021

In-person

Aim: To provide participants with the skills needed to undertake community-based risk assessments, particularly in disaster-prone informal settlements.

Learning outcomes: Participants will understand the principles and role of community-based risk assessment in disaster risk reduction and development planning; have the skills needed to undertake participatory risk assessments; and to write up and present findings for different audiences.

Duration: 3 days

Cost: R4 120. R3 500 for registered Stellenbosch University Students

Introduction to Data and Research

16-18
November
2021

In-person

Aim: To provide foundational knowledge on the kinds of information available to assess disaster risk, where to find information and basic data collection tools.

Learning outcomes: Participants will understand basic research principles and methods, including participatory research tools, and will be able to identify, source and work with the information needed to assess risk at a local level. They will also be familiar with working with and interpreting secondary data, aerial photography and maps.

Duration: 3 Days

Cost: R4 120. R3 500 for registered Stellenbosch University Students

Courses are endorsed by DMISA. Successful participants can earn up to 5 CPD points

For additional information and to pre-register, contact:
Trish Zweig at patriciazweig@sun.ac.za

Applications close 2 weeks before start date