BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Ek is 'n dosent en ontluikende akademikus in die Departement Opvoedkundige Sielkunde van die Universiteit van Stellenbosch. Ek is ook 'n geregistreerde opvoedkundige sielkundige. Deur my navorsing poog ek om die estetiese disposisie as spesifieke psigoterapeutiese ingesteldheid binne die domein van onderrig en opleiding te verken en te bevorder. Ek stel belang in die benaderings van die persoonsgesentreerde, Gestalt- en eksistensiële psigoterapieë, en in die teoretiese beskouings van die eksistensiële en hermeneutiese fenomenologie. Voorkeurnavorsingsraamwerke sluit kwalitatiewe, interpretatiewe en poëtiese metodologieë van ondersoek in. Ek was verantwoordelik vir die skryf van 'n hoofstuk in die onlangs gepubliseerde akademiese handboek Insigte uit Opvoedkundige Sielkunde (Juta), sowel as die vakkundige boek Teacher Education for Transformative Agency: Critical perspectives on design, content and pedagogy (Stellenbosch SUN Media).

I am a lecturer and emerging academic in the Department of Educational Psychology, Stellenbosch University. I am also a registered educational psychologist. Through my research, I seek to explore and promote the aesthetic disposition as a specific psychotherapeutic mindset within the domain of teaching and training. I am interested in person-centred, Gestalt and existentialist psychotherapies. My main theoretical orientation draws on existential and hermeneutic phenomenology. Preferred frameworks of inquiry include qualitative, interpretative, and personal methodologies. I was the author of a chapter in the recently published academic textbook Understanding Educational Psychology (Juta) as well as the scholarly book Teacher Education for Transformative Agency: Critical perspectives on design, content, and pedagogy (Stellenbosch SUN Media).

- Title: Eksistensiële ontstigting as noodsaak vir die denkende psigoterapeut:literêre teater as platform vir die estetiese disposisie
English title: Existential discomfort as a necessity for the thinking psychotherapist: Literary theatre as a platform for the aesthetic disposition

Promoter: Prof. E. Swart

Co-promoter: Prof. D. Painter

Opsomming:

Die saak wat in hierdie konseptuele studie aan die orde gebring word, is die saamsnoering van die eksistensiële-fenomenologiese noodwendigheid van literêre teater en die estetiese disposisie as psigoterapeutiese ingesteldheid by die ontwikkelende terapeut. Sistematiese teoretisering het geleid tot die ontwikkeling van 'n metateoretiese gestalt as onderrig- en opleidingsheuristik ter verskerping van die estetiese disposisie. Die sentrale tesis is dat doelbewuste inoefening van die estetiese disposisie as psigoterapeutiese ingesteldheid, die ontwikkelende terapeut noodsaak om telkens die bestaanslae eie aan die menslike wesensaard singewend te verreken. Ten diepste veronderstel die estetiese disposisie 'n bewussynsmatige betrokkenheid, gekenmerk deur synsdenke, verinnerliking en taal – geestesmiddele wat tot elke prys beskerm moet word teen die tegnokratiese materialisme van die massasielkunde.

English synopsis:

The purpose of this study was to comprehend the relationship between the psychological function of literary theatre and the existential-ontological attitude of the educational psychology student. This existential-ontological attitude embodies a certain artistry or aesthetic disposition, characterised by qualities such as honed intuition, sensitive awareness, and the formation of nuanced connections. It is an artistry, which allows the educational psychology student to expose various layers of existence and beingness, as well as to articulate it meaningfully by way of contemplative thought and language. The study has eventually resulted in a tentative theoretical framework as well as a teaching and training tool for understanding and practicing of the aesthetic disposition as the preferred attitude of the student and psychotherapist. Another outcome of this study was the formulation of learning activities that can be utilise in the psychotherapeutic teaching and training of students to stimulate and improve the aesthetic disposition. At its core, the aesthetic disposition presupposes a conscious involvement, characterised by ontological contemplation, deepening insight as well as language. We need to protect these intellectual resources at all costs against the technocratic materialism of mass psychology.
