

VIRTUAL Writing Retreat for Teaching & Learning Research and Innovation

15 - 18 November 2021

(Y)our Teaching Matters

Stellenbosch University academics and professional academic support services (PASS) staff interested in teaching and learning (T&L) research and innovation are invited to indicate interest in attending a virtual writing retreat hosted on MSTeams to prepare for FIRLT / Finlo proposals. The programme is envisaged to include goal-setting and goal-achievement sessions, short input sessions, optional consultations with the facilitator and/or CTL faculty advisor, free writing time and compulsory small group check-in discussions at the end of each day.

The purpose of the virtual writing retreat is mainly to create an online community of practice for:

- developing of Finlo proposals and productive research writing related to Finlo projects;
- offering support through facilitators and/or CTL advisors in an atmosphere of trust and safety;
- forming a multidisciplinary community where peer support is provided;
- allowing for exploration of the key links between teaching, learning, research, writing and scholarship.

Kindly complete all the sections below before sending in your application.
