What our International Students choose to study:

Stellenbosch University (SU) provides an extensive array of undergraduate and postgraduate degree programmes, encompassing diplomas, honors, master's, and PhD programmes, spanning across its ten faculties. Additionally, the university offers short-term mobility programmes and courses tailored for international students who wish to engage in temporary study or research at Stellenbosch University without pursuing a degree.

Here is a breakdown of the faculties that are most commonly chosen by international students when they enroll at SU:

Please note that the popularity of specific faculties may vary from year to year and among different cohorts of international students.
