

Dr Yejoo Kim

Dr Yejoo Kim is a Research Fellow at the Centre for Chinese Studies. She received her PhD in Political Science and her MA in International Studies from Stellenbosch University. She obtained a BA in African Studies from Hankuk University of Foreign Studies in South Korea. Her current research interest is China's investment strategies towards developing countries including Southeast Asia and Africa in a comparative perspective. She has been working on Chinese-led special economic zones in Africa and Chinese investment in the manufacturing sector and its implications for labour relations. Yejoo also focuses on the economic relations of other Asian partners (Korea and Taiwan) with Africa.