

Motivational interviewing for beginners

Stellenbosch University
Tygerberg Campus
Cape Town
12-14 August 2019

This short course is aimed at developing beginning proficiency in motivational interviewing. Motivational interviewing is an approach to helping people with behaviour change. The course is aimed at professionals dealing with health related behaviour change e.g. adherence, sexual behaviour, physical activity, smoking, substance abuse, healthy eating.

Participants should commit to attend the initial 3-day workshop and at least three of the four half-day follow up sessions (Dates to be confirmed) to fully integrate the training into your practice. A Certificate of Competency from Stellenbosch University will be awarded to those who complete the whole course and demonstrate their ability in motivational interviewing.

The workshop will be offered by Prof Bob Mash, Dr. Zelra Malan, Dr. Kathy Everett-Murphy and Ms Loren Human, who are all experienced trainers in South Africa and members of the International Network of Trainers of Motivational Interviewing.

The cost of the course is R6500 and worth 15 credits at NQF level 8.

To register your interest for the course and to obtain an application form please send an email to Ms Marianna James in the Division of Family Medicine and Primary Care mariannaj@sun.ac.za Tel: 021 938 9395

Places will be limited to the first 25 paid applicants

Further information from Dr. Zelra Malan zmalan@sun.ac.za