General Information

1. History and functions of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences

In the context of a developing country such as South Africa, universities play an important role in the process of knowledge creation. The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences is fully aware of the extent of this challenge and strives continuously through its teaching and learning, research, community interaction and management strategies to make a significant contribution to a knowledge-based society and economy in Africa.

As a faculty, we place immense value on creating a space where the diversity of people and ideas can flourish. This also helps us to further develop the various research fields in our environment. We therefore make a concerted effort to employ staff and admit students to our Faculty who contribute to our goal of creating a diverse environment where all forms of knowledge can develop and prosper.

1.1 History, structure and mission

History

When Stellenbosch University first opened its doors in 1866, it was known as the Stellenbosch Gymnasium. The Arts Department of the Gymnasium was founded eight years after the Gymnasium was established. By 1879 about 69 students were enrolled for a BA degree at the Gymnasium.

In February 1916, a law called “De Universiteit van Stellenbosch-wet” (Law no. 13 of 1916) was published and came into effect on 2 April 1918. This led to the institution’s name change to Stellenbosch University. The law which led to the name change in 1918, also made provision for a Faculty of Arts. After being known as such for many years, in 2008, the Faculty’s name was changed to the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences.

Structure

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences consists of 18 departments that represent three broad disciplinary groups, namely Arts, Languages and Social Sciences:

Arts:

- Drama
- Music
- Visual Arts

Languages:

- African Languages
- Afrikaans and Dutch
- Ancient Studies
- English
- General Linguistics
- Modern Foreign Languages

Social Sciences:

- Geography and Environmental Studies
- History
- Information Science
- Journalism
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Psychology
- Social Work
- Sociology and Social Anthropology

Mission

The mission of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences is the discovery, transfer and application of knowledge for the promotion of the human sciences. Our aim is also to enrich and enhance the quality of life of the people of this region, country and continent.

1.2 Research and community interaction

Research

In 2017, the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences already had 73 NRF (National Research Foundation)-rated researchers. The following research and service centres are currently situated within the Faculty:

- Africa Open Institute for Music, Research and Innovation
- Centre for Applied Ethics
- Centre for Bible Interpretation and Translation in Africa
- Centre for Chinese Studies

- Centre for Comic, Illustrative and Book Arts (CCIBA)
- Centre for Community Psychology Services
- Centre for Geographical Analysis
- Centre for International and Comparative Politics
- Centre for Knowledge Dynamics and Decision-making
- Centre for Regional and Urban Innovation and Statistical Exploration (CRUISE)
- Centre for Research on Evaluation, Science and Technology (CREST)
 - Including Centre for Excellence in Scientometrics and Science, Technology and Innovation Policy (SciSTIP)
- Centre for Science and Technology Mass Communication (CENSCOM)
- Graduate School of Arts and Social Sciences
- Research Alliance for Disaster and Risk Reduction (RADAR)
- HUMARGA (the computer-user area for students in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences)

Community interaction

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences does not only focus on teaching and research but community interaction also forms an integral part of our faculty. Visit our website at www.sun.ac.za/english/faculty/arts/about/community-interaction for more information on how we serve the community. Some of the projects that the Faculty is involved in are:

- Art in Schools Initiative of NSCAD University/Stellenbosch University;
- Cloetesville Community Health Centre Mental Health Service-Learning Project;
- Financial literacy education programme for social work service users;
- Interpreting service;
- The Certificate Programme in Music Literacy; and
- Welgevallen Community Psychology Clinic.

2.5 BA Students Committee (BASC)

You are automatically a member of the Faculty's student society if you are registered as a student for a degree programme in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. For more information on the society/committee, visit the following webpage or contact them electronically:

- Website: www.sun.ac.za/english/faculty/arts/students/ba-student-committee
- E-mail address: bask@sun.ac.za

3. How to communicate with Stellenbosch University

3.1 Using your student number

- Stellenbosch University (SU) allocates a student number to you when you apply to study at SU.
- The student number is your unique identification to simplify future communication with SU.
- Always use your student number when you communicate with SU.

3.2 Contact details of Stellenbosch University

You can send enquiries regarding your studies, bursaries and loans, and residence placements to the following address:

The Registrar
Stellenbosch University
Private Bag X1
MATIELAND

Visit Stellenbosch University's website at www.sun.ac.za. You can also contact the Stellenbosch University Client Services Centre at 021 808 9111 or send an e-mail to info@sun.ac.za.

4. Language at the University

Stellenbosch University (SU) is committed to engagement with knowledge in a diverse society and through the Language Policy aims to increase equitable access to SU for all students and staff. Multilingualism is promoted as an important differentiating characteristic of SU. Afrikaans, English and Xhosa are used in academic, administrative, professional and social contexts. Pedagogically sound teaching and learning are facilitated by means of Afrikaans and English.

More information concerning language at SU is available on the website www.sun.ac.za/language.

5. General regulations for academic complaints procedure

5.1 Academic complaints are matters concerning:

- the content and presentation of modules;
- the learning environment and resources; and
- the assessment of modules.

You must follow the academic complaint procedure when consultation between you and your lecturer and/or the departmental chairperson cannot resolve the problem.

5.2 If you have an academic complaint, you must follow the procedure set out below:

- a) You must complete the complaint form as soon as possible and draw the attention of the particular class representative to the complaint.
- b) Complaint forms are available from:
 - Faculty societies;
 - The Office of the Dean;
 - The Office of The Students' Representative Council; and
 - The website of SU.
- c) The class representative must discuss the problem with the lecturer concerned. You can also be involved in this consultation if you so choose.
- d) If the problem cannot be resolved satisfactorily, the class representative must take up the matter with the departmental chairperson. You can also be involved in the consultation with the departmental chairperson if you so choose.
- e) The departmental chairperson will report back to the class representative once the matter has been discussed with the lecturer concerned.
- f) If the matter cannot be satisfactorily resolved, the departmental chairperson must refer it, with the necessary documentation, to the Student Feedback Committee. At this stage all those involved can submit further documentation.

5.3 Administrative complaints concern matters that have to do with registration, subject choices, student fees, etc., and you must take it up with the Faculty Administrator of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences or, if necessary, with the Registrar.

6. Internal regulations for Dean's Concession Examinations

- 6.1 The Dean may grant a Dean's Concession Examination (written or oral) to a final-year student, if the student needs half (or less) of the credits in a subject for which the student is registered in that year at first-, second-, third- or fourth-year level for obtaining a degree, diploma or certificate.
- 6.2 The regulation regarding Dean's Concession Examinations is applied as follows. In the case of:
- an examination subject, a final mark must have been obtained in the relevant module(s) during the academic year in question;
 - a module assessed by flexible assessment, or where the class mark counts as the final mark, a final mark of at least 40% must have been obtained during the academic year in question;
 - a year subject, the credits in arrears must not exceed half of a first-, second-, third- or fourth-year level (up to a maximum of 24 credits). [In other words, 12 credits at first-year level, 16 at second-year level and 24 at third-year level and fourth-year level.]
- 6.3 If the equivalent of the "half subject" is spread across different years (and subjects), the Dean may grant the concession at his discretion, on the understanding that the maximum number of examination papers/assessment opportunities in this case does not exceed two (e.g. Sociology 212(8) and Political Science 354(12)).
- 6.4 In order to qualify for the Dean's Concession Examination, the subject must have been taken during the student's final academic year and failed during one of the two examination opportunities. A Dean's Concession Examination will not be granted if the student did not qualify for admission to the examination, or if the module has been discontinued. If the student passes the Dean's Concession Examination(s), a final mark of a maximum of 50% may be awarded.
- 6.5 All students in a degree programme in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences are subject to the Dean's Concession Policy of this Faculty, irrespective of the fact that the subject which is needed for degree purposes falls under another faculty.
- 6.6 The following modules are excluded from Dean's Concession Examinations:
- a) Department of Drama
 - Theatre Skills 378 and 388
 - b) Department of Music
 - Higher Certificate in Music
 - Orchestral Practice 191
 - Practical Music Study A (all modules)
 - Diploma (Practical Music)
 - General Music Studies 191
 - Music Education 371
 - Orchestral Practice (all modules)
 - Practical Music Study A (all modules)
 - Practical Music Study S 221 and 261
 - BMus
 - Composition 379 and 479
 - Music Education 178
 - Music Technology 379 and 479
 - Orchestral Practice (all modules)
 - Practical Music Study A (all modules)
 - Practical Music Study E (all modules)
 - Practical Music Study S (all modules)
 - Repertoire Studies 389
 - Service Learning 496
 - c) Department of Visual Arts
 - All year modules are excluded from Dean's Concession Examinations. Only the semester modules of Elementary Photography and Supportive Techniques may be considered for a Dean's Concession Examination.

7. Completion of modules through Unisa or another university

- 7.1 You can complete a maximum of 48 credits in total through Unisa or another university for degree purposes in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Of these 48 credits, you can complete a maximum of 24 credits at final-year level.
- 7.2 To qualify you need to:
- provide very good reasons with supporting evidence; and
 - have preferably taken and failed the subject(s) or module(s) concerned at SU.
- Please note that this rule does not apply to subjects, modules or credits completed within the framework of formal agreements with overseas universities, faculties or departments.
- 7.3 If you apply for readmission to SU in this Faculty, recognition will be given, at the most, for Unisa credits to the equivalent of three subjects at SU. Only 24 of the equivalent credits may be at the final-year level.

7.4 If you complete a module or modules through Unisa that is presented by the Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences, the above requirements apply, with the addition that third-year modules must have been taken and failed at SU.

8. Recognition of subjects/modules/credits completed elsewhere

The following regulations apply in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences if you want to get recognition of credits for subjects that you passed at another university:

- For three-year B programmes the Faculty recognises a maximum of 126 credits at first-year level;
- For four-year B programmes (BA in Visual Arts, BMus and B in Social Work) the University rule applies that you can pass only half the total credits required for the programme at another university;
- For both three-year and four-year B programmes the requirement is that you must obtain at least all the credits of the last two years of study at Stellenbosch University; and
- For credits obtained at another university to be recognised, the contents of the subject-modules concerned, must be relevant and equivalent at the year levels for which the credits are to be recognised for your programme concerned.

9. Simultaneous registration for more than one year of study in a subject for graduation purposes

- a) In accordance with the decision of the Executive Committee (Senate) that students may take more than one year of a subject simultaneously for degree purposes, you may take a maximum of two years of a subject simultaneously, provided that
 - o you consult the department concerned in this regard; and
 - o you meet the corequisite, prerequisite and prerequisite pass requirements of the module(s) concerned. If these requirements do not allow the years to be taken simultaneously, the concession may not be granted under any circumstances.
- b) The Teaching Committee may consider, in highly exceptional cases, your simultaneous taking of three years of a subject for degree purposes, provided that your justification for the request is given; and that the request complies with the above requirements.
- c) In addition to the requirements set out in this Calendar Part you must also note the particular requirements that may apply within the Faculty and within particular departments. You can obtain this information from the departmental chairpersons of the various departments.

10. Readmission requirements

The following regulations are applicable if you must apply for readmission, due to poor performance, to a programme offered by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences:

- a) You must obtain 0,5 Hemis credits per year and meet the sliding scale requirements. Consult the Calendar Part 1 (General) for more information on the Hemis credits and the sliding scale requirements.
- b) You must meet the readmission requirements annually.
- c) If you are registered for the Extended Degree Programme, you must comply with the same requirements. That means that you must pass a minimum of 63 credits at the end of your first year. Consult the Calendar Part 1 (General) for the Hemis requirements.

Undergraduate Programmes

1. Undergraduate enrolment management

In order to meet the targets of Council with regard to the total number of students, the fields of study and diversity profile of the student body of Stellenbosch University, it is necessary to manage the undergraduate enrolments at the University. The University's total number of enrolments is not only managed to accommodate its available capacity but we are committed to the advancement of diversity.

The University's undergraduate enrolment is managed within the framework of the national higher-education system. We strive toward a well-grounded cohesion between national and institutional goals, respecting important principles such as institutional autonomy, academic freedom and public responsibility. The following points of departure apply:

- High academic standards are maintained for the expansion of academic excellence.
- The University attempts to maintain and continuously improve high success rates.
- The University is committed to rectification, social responsibility and training future role models from all population groups.
- The University strives to expand access to higher education especially for students from educationally disadvantaged and economically needy backgrounds who has the academic potential to be successful in their studies at the University.

Take note that, even if you meet the minimum requirements of your chosen programme, you will not necessarily gain admission to the University, due to the strategic and purposeful management of enrolments as places are limited.

All undergraduate programmes in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences are selection programmes. Selection takes place according to the guidelines and procedures of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Consult the "Guidelines and Procedures for Enrolment Management: Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences" document that can be found at www.sun.ac.za/english/maties/Documents/Arts%20and%20Social%20Sciences.pdf.

You can find more details about the selection procedures and admission requirements for undergraduate programmes in this chapter and on the Faculty's website at www.sun.ac.za/arts.

As a prospective undergraduate student, you must write the National Benchmark Tests (NBT). Consult the NBT website at www.nbt.ac.za or the University's website at www.sun.ac.za for more information on the National Benchmark Tests. The University can use the results of the National Benchmark Tests for the following purposes:

- To help determine whether you must be placed in an Extended Degree Programme;
- For selection; and
- For curriculum development.

2. Subjects for university admission

- Accounting
- Agricultural Sciences
- Business Studies
- Consumer Studies
- Dramatic Arts
- Economics
- Engineering Graphics and Design
- Geography
- History
- Information Technology
- Languages (one language of learning and teaching at a higher education institution and two other recognised language subjects)
- Life Sciences
- Mathematics
- Mathematical Literacy
- Music
- Physical Sciences
- Religion Studies
- Visual Arts

3. General requirements for bachelor's degrees, diplomas and certificates

You can find more information on the programme content and structure of your chosen undergraduate programme later in this chapter. Consult the chapter "Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents" later in this Calendar Part for the particular requirements that apply to specific subjects.

Take note of the following requirements if you would like to register for a bachelor's degree, diploma or certificate:

- a) If you have passed one or more modules at another university, Stellenbosch University (SU) may, under certain conditions, give you recognition for the module(s). If, however, these modules are not recognised for degree/diploma/certificate purposes at the university concerned, then the module(s) will also not be recognised at SU.
- b) Module(s) that are successfully completed at other universities will be recognised on individual merit.
- c) Submit the contents of the modules for recognition to the SU department concerned or consult the relevant faculty officer in the Admin A building. The Department of Psychology has specific requirements with regard to the recognition of modules. Please consult the Department in this regard.
- d) In addition to the abovementioned requirements, a maximum of half the total credits required for your degree/diploma/certificate may be recognised:
 - o on the basis of your study at another university; or
 - o from a degree you already obtained at Stellenbosch University on condition that you must take new majors.
 Consult section 8 in the chapter "General Information" for more information on the recognition of subjects/modules/credits that you completed elsewhere.
- e) Consult section 7, "Completion of modules through Unisa or another university", in the chapter "General Information" in this Calendar Part for more information. You must study a minimum of two years at Stellenbosch University to obtain a bachelor's degree at SU.

3.1 Choice of subject combinations

Consult the diagram on the fold-out page in the back of this Calendar Part to choose subject combinations for your specific programme. The diagram indicates which subjects may not be taken together (exclusion subjects).

Also consult the programme content and structure of the various programmes in this chapter for further requirements regarding subject combinations.

4. General regulations for Extended Degree Programmes (EDPs) and early testing

4.1 The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences offers academic support to all students. We make provision for the following within the framework of academic support:

- a) An Extended Degree Programme (EDP) which entails that:
 - o the first academic year is extended across two years;
 - o you are given additional academic support; and
 - o you follow specific compulsory modules that ensure you are better prepared for your graduate studies.
- b) If you are not adequately proficient in either English or Afrikaans, assistance will be provided in developing the required language skills.
- c) In Year 1 you take two elective subjects from the first year of the programme offering of your choice, each with an academic support component. The support component of each elective subject is presented as an extra subject-specific tutorial.

As an EDP student you must take the following compulsory modules:

- o Texts in the Humanities 113 (12 credits) and Texts in the Humanities 143 (12 credits) in the first and second semesters respectively;
 - o Introduction to the Humanities 178 (24 credits); and
 - o Information Skills 174 (12 credits).
- d) In Year 2 you take the remaining first-year subjects from your programme offering, including their respective academic support components. The support component of each elective subject is presented as an extra subject-specific tutorial.
In Year 2 you must also take Texts in the Humanities 123 and Texts in the Humanities 154.
 - e) In Year 3 you follow the ordinary second-year programme, and in Year 4 the ordinary third-year programme.
 - f) If you are registered for the four-year B in Social Work programme, then you will follow the ordinary fourth-year programme in Year 5.

4.2 If you have obtained an average final mark of 60% to 64,9% for the National Senior Certificate (NSC) (excluding Life Orientation), you must register for the Extended Degree Programme.

Admission to the Extended Degree Programme is considered discretionarily. Your National Benchmark Test (NBT) results, socio-economic status and the availability of places are considered during admission.

4.3 The EDP is not an option for the following degree programmes:

- BA (Drama and Theatre Studies);
- BA (Music);
- BMus;
- BA in Visual Arts;
- BA in Political, Philosophical and Economic Studies (PPE);
- BA (Law); and
- BA (Sport Science).

4.4 You will not be allowed to register for the EDP at the beginning of the second semester.

4.5 You can obtain more information regarding the EDP, as well as other academic support, from the Student Support Co-ordinator, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Her contact details are as follows:

Ms A Jonker
 Room 460, 4th floor, Arts and Social Sciences building
 Tel: 021 808 2081 E-mail: axjonker@sun.ac.za

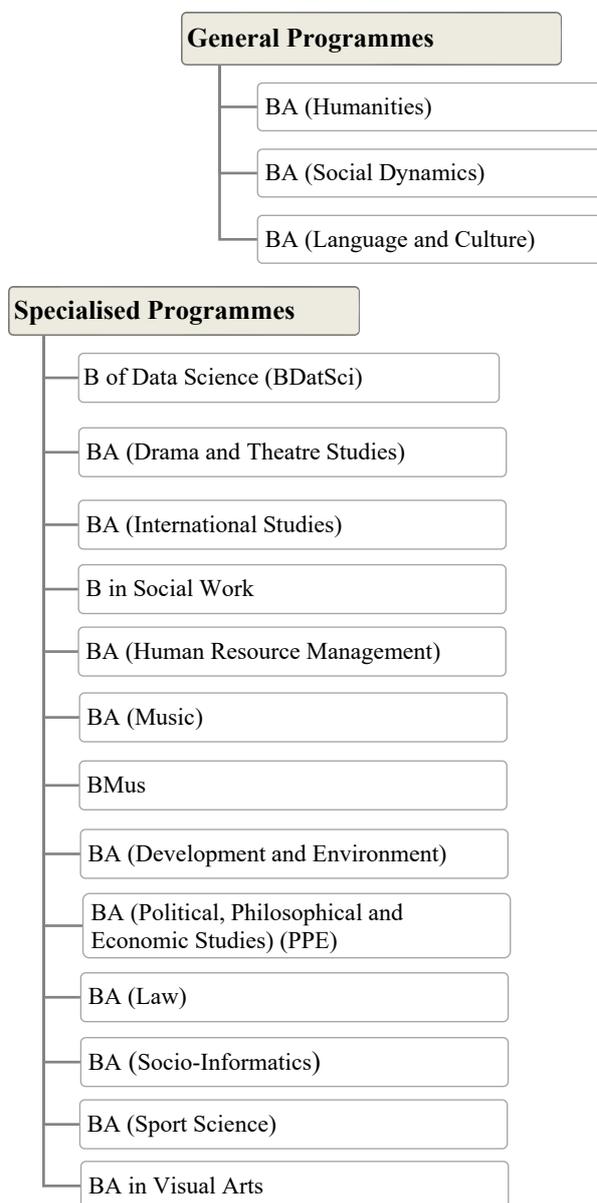

4.6 The structure of the Extended Degree Programme (EDP) is set out as follows:

Historical year of study	Subjects
First year	Two subjects from the standard degree programme offering are taken; an additional subject-specific tutorial is offered in each subject. Information Skills 174 Texts in the Humanities 113 Texts in the Humanities 143 Introduction to the Humanities 178
Second year	The remaining subjects from the degree programme's first-year offering are taken; an additional subject-specific tutorial is offered in each subject. Texts in the Humanities 123 Texts in the Humanities 153
Third year	The same as for the standard second year of the programme
Fourth year	The same as for the standard third year of the programme
Fifth year	The same as for the standard fourth year of the programme

5. Bachelor's degree programmes

The programmes of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences are broadly divided into two categories, namely general programmes and specialised programmes. General programmes offer you a broad background for various careers in related fields while specialised programmes are focused on specific careers.

The following diagrams offer a breakdown of the Faculty's programmes.

5.1 BA (Humanities)

Specific Admission Requirements

- A National Senior Certificate (NSC) or school-leaving certificate from the Independent Examination Board (IEB) as certified by Umalusi with a mark of at least 4 (50%) in each of the four school subjects from the list of school subjects under “Undergraduate Programmes” in this Calendar Part.
- An average final mark of 63% in the NSC or the IEB school-leaving certificate (excluding Life Orientation) for the three-year mainstream programme.
- An average final mark of 60-62,9% in the NSC (excluding Life Orientation) for the four-year Extended Degree Programme.
- Your National Benchmark Test results may be taken into consideration for placement in the Extended Degree Programme.
- Home Language – code 4 (50%).
- First Additional Language – code 3 (40%).
- Mathematics – code 4 (50%) OR Mathematical Literacy – code 6 (70%) (only if you will be taking Socio-Informatics as a subject).

Consult section 4 in this chapter for more information on the Extended Degree Programmes.

Programme Content and Structure

The subjects of the programme BA (Humanities) are set out below according to the three groups, followed by a breakdown of the specific modules.

You can find the contents of these subjects and modules, as well as the specifications concerning the selection of subjects and modules, in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part.

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

Group 1 Human Thought, Language, Culture and Art	Group 2 People and Society	Group 3 Half third-year-level subject (24 credits); offered on third-year level only
African Languages Afrikaans and Dutch Afrikaans Language Acquisition Ancient Cultures Applied English Language Studies Basic Xhosa (offered on first-year level only) Chinese English Studies French General Linguistics German Sign Language Studies (offered on first-year level only) Theatre Studies Visual Studies Xhosa	Geo-Environmental Science/ Geography and Environmental Studies History Philosophy Political Science Psychology Social Anthropology Socio-Informatics Sociology	318(24) Sign Language Linguistics (General Linguistics 1 and 2 are prerequisite pass modules) Consult the table of contents for module contents.

The content of the BA in the Humanities is presented at three consecutive year levels:

First-year level

At this level content is taught which is introductory in nature and which forms the foundation for the contents that are presented on subsequent levels.

At first-year level you take 5 subjects plus Information Skills 172. Your subject choice is as follows:

Compulsory Module		Credits
Information Skills 172		1 x 6 credits
Choose
2 subjects	Group 1	2 x 24 credits
2 subjects	Group 2	2 x minimum 24 credits
1 subject	Group 1 or Group 2	1 x minimum 24 credits

Please note:

The credit value for the subject Geo-Environmental Science is higher than 24 credits.

Second-year level

At this level contents are still taught which do not necessarily concern specific human sciences aspects of Southern African realities, but which are directly relevant to an understanding of the problematic aspects of this reality.

In practicals and tutorials, the relevance of these contents to an understanding of problematic human sciences aspects of the Southern African reality is illustrated systematically.

In your second year you take four subjects that you took at first-year level.

Note the following:

- In order to gain access to Applied English Language Studies 214 or 244, you need to pass either General Linguistics 178 or English Studies 178.
- You may take Sociology and/or Social Anthropology at second-year level if you passed Sociology at first-year level.

Third-year level

The contents at this level are focused on problematic human sciences aspects of Southern African realities.

In each of the two majors you do a certain amount of work that is focused on enhancing the content integration within and between the two major subjects, as well as the overall coherence of the programme.

This work that forms part of the process of integrated assessment, can take on various forms: (interdepartmental) seminars, written assignments, practicals of various kinds, etc.

Your subject choice for your third year is as follows:

Choose
2 subjects (that you took in your first and second year)	Group 1 or Group 2 or 1 subject from Group 1 and 1 subject from Group 2
Half third-year-level subject or the equivalent of a half third-year subject based on the amount of credits (minimum of 24 credits) (that you took in your first and second year). (If you passed General Linguistics 178 and 278, you can take Sign Language Studies 318(24) as a half third-year-level subject.)	Group 1 or Group 2 or Group 3

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of regular lectures, complemented with tutorials and/or practical classes.

Please note:

If you are taking Sociology 3 as a major subject, then 314 (first semester) and 364 (second semester) are compulsory modules. Students then follow 324 in the first semester and choose between 344 and 354 in the second semester. Please note that 344 and 354 cannot be taken together due to timetable clashes.

First year (126 – 134 credits)

In your first year you take five subjects plus Information Skills 172. Your subject choice is as follows:

Compulsory modules		Credits
Information Skills 172		1 x 6 credits
Choose
2 subjects	Group 1 (Human Thought, Language, Culture and Art)	2 x 24 credits
2 subjects	Group 2 (People and Society)	2 x minimum 24 credits
1 subject	Group 1 or Group 2	1 x minimum 24 credits

Please note:

- If you take the subject Geo-Environmental Science from Group 2, the credit value of this subject will be higher than 24 credits.

Programme Assessment

Assessment within the BA in the Humanities takes place per subject module. The mode of assessment differs from module to module and includes formal examinations, formal tests, written assignments, oral participation in class, different kinds of practical work, etc. To complete a module successfully, you must obtain a final mark of at least 50%.

The manner in which individual modules are assessed, is explained in the module framework/study guide that is handed out during the first lecture of each module. Also consult the entries of the departments concerned in the chapter "Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents" of this Calendar Part.

Programme Assessment

Assessment takes place per module and may vary from module to module. Flexible assessment is used in some modules, while tests and examinations are used in others. In most cases assessment is based on one or more written assignments as well as at least two tests, or a test and an examination, for each module.

The manner in which individual modules are assessed is explained in the module framework/study guide that is handed out during the first lecture of each module. Also consult the entries of the departments concerned in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part.

5.4 B of Data Science (BDatSci)

BDatSci: General

Specific Admission Requirements

- Overall NSC average of at least 80%, excluding Life Orientation
- Mathematics 80%
- One of the following:
 - Afrikaans Home Language 60% or
 - English Home Language 60% or
 - Afrikaans First Additional Language 75% or
 - English First Additional Language 75%

Duration of programme

Four years

Programme structure

The BDatSci programme consists of a set of compulsory core modules on all year levels foundational to the field of Data Science and further offers you a relatively free choice of modules to enable you to focus on a very specific field within the Data Science environment. In choosing your modules, please take note of the stipulations regarding timetable clashes as may be applicable.

It is also possible within this programme to focus on a specific area of study, called a focal area. You register for BDatSci in the faculty that offers that focal area.

Focal areas

The objective of focal areas is to help you choose a specific career focus within the BDatSci programme. The focal area is not a programme, and the module combinations are only recommendations for you to make more focussed module choices. The module choices in the tables describing each focal area fit in with lecture and assessment timetables. However, there are compulsory modules that should be taken within each focal area.

There are eight focal areas within the BDatSci programme, one of which resides within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. The eight focal areas of BDatSci are given below with an indication of the faculty calendar part in brackets that contains the programme structure of each focal area:

- Statistical Learning (Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences);
- Analytics and Optimisation (Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences);
- Behavioural Economics (Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences);
- Computer Science (Faculty of Science);
- Applied Mathematics (Faculty of Science);
- Statistical Physics (Faculty of Science);
- Geoinformatics (Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences) and;
- Statistical Genetics (Faculty of AgriSciences)

Further information can be obtained at www.sun.ac.za/datascience.

Focal area: Geoinformatics within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences

(Home Department: Geography and Information Science)

Geoinformatics is the science and technology dealing with the structure and character of spatial information, its capture, its classification and qualification, its storage, processing, portrayal, and dissemination.

Module combinations in the focal area: Geoinformatics

Please note that some of the modules in this table are in other faculties than the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. The module contents for these modules are in the Calendar parts of the faculties concerned.

5.5 BA (Drama and Theatre Studies)

Specific Admission Requirements

- A National Senior Certificate (NSC) or the school-leaving certificate from the Independent Examination Board (IEB) as certified by Umalusi with a mark of at least 4 (50%) in each of the four school subjects from the list of school subjects under "Undergraduate Programmes" in this Calendar Part.
- An average final mark in the NSC or the IEB school-leaving certificate (excluding Life Orientation) – 60%.
- Home Language – code 4 (50%).
- First Additional Language – code 4 (50%).

Please note: This programme does not have an option for the Extended Degree Programme.

Final selection for this programme is done by means of a personal audition/interview.

Programme Content and Structure

From the first-year level you must choose between two options, namely acting and performance training (Option A) and technical and management training (Option B). In each of the two practical major subjects you do a certain amount of work that is designed to enhance the content integration within and between these two major subjects and the overall coherence of the programme. This work, which forms part of the process of integrated assessment, can take on various forms such as (interdepartmental) seminars, written assignments, various forms of practical work, etc.

Presentation

The contents of the programme are divided into:

- Theatre Studies (theory, acquisition of knowledge and insight);
- Theatre Arts (theory and skills: combination, application and acquisition); and
- Theatre Skills (theory, acquisition of skills).

These sections of the programme are linked through the focus on theatre and the media and supplement one another.

Theatre Skills and Theatre Art require contact teaching in the form of working in small groups. Given the nature of the theatre and media industries and to broaden your range of career opportunities, it is important to the Department that you are fluent either in spoken English or spoken Afrikaans, and have basic speaking abilities in the other language.

Programme Composition

The subjects and modules of the programme BA (Drama and Theatre Studies) are set out below. You can find the contents of these subjects and modules, as well as the specifications concerning the selection of subjects and modules, in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part.

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

Consult section 4 in this chapter for more information on the Extended Degree Programmes.

Programme Content and Structure

This is a three-year, interdisciplinary programme that is focused on developing a broad insight for the complexity of international matters. The programme focuses on the interaction of economic considerations, cultural and identity matters, the importance of historical context as well as the learning of a modern foreign language. This is done by means of a focused selection of modules and subjects that work together to support the programme-specific major subject Political Science.

The programme consists of six subjects in the first year, six subjects in the second year (with French or German) or five subjects (with Chinese), and two major subjects (with elective modules of 24 credits) in the third year. The programme leads to postgraduate study in Political Science, History or other fields of study but is subject to postgraduate programme-specific requirements.

Programme Composition

The subjects and modules of the programme BA (International Studies) are set out below. You can find the contents of these subjects and modules, as well as the specifications concerning the selection of subjects and modules, in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part.

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. Consult section 4 in this chapter for more information on the Extended Degree Programmes.

Programme Content and Structure

This programme focuses on generic social work and is professionally oriented in that it provides you with the necessary knowledge, develops your skills and promotes a certain attitude to enable you as a beginner to practise in accordance with the requirements of the South African Council for Social Service Professions.

During each year of study, you must pass the theory and practice education modules of social work independently to continue with the next academic year. In your first year Sociology and Psychology are corequisite modules (See the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part for the definition of a corequisite module). You may only take Social Work 4 if you comply with the provision as set out by the Department. In each of the two major subjects (theory and practice education) you must undertake an amount of work which is aimed at increasing the integration of the contents within and between the two major subjects, as well as promoting the coherence of the programme as a whole. This work that forms part of the process of integrated assessment, can take on various forms such as written assignments, tests, different types of practical work, etc.

Presentation

*Programme AssessmentTheoretical modules in Social Work

Each module is assessed by means of scheduled mid-semester tests, assignments and a final examination.

In terms of University requirements, you are allocated a final mark from a combination of a class mark and an examination mark. For the examination mark you can use the second examination opportunity if you have missed the first opportunity.

Practice education in Social Work

A system of flexible assessment is used for the practice education modules. You must submit reports on an ongoing basis and you are also assessed during supervision sessions.

The manner in which individual modules are assessed, is explained in the module framework/study guide that is handed out during the first lecture of each module. Also consult the entries of the departments concerned in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part.

Consult section 4 in this chapter for more information on the Extended Degree Programmes.

Programme Content and Structure

The content of the BA in Human Resource Management programme is presented over three consecutive years. The programme leads to postgraduate study but you have to meet the admission requirements to continue with postgraduate studies.

If you do not have an African language as home language or did not take an African language in Grade 12, you must select Basic Xhosa as a subject. If you do have an African language as home language or took it as Grade 12 subject, then you must choose Afrikaans or English Studies as a subject.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of formal lectures per subject per week, complemented by practical sessions.

Programme Composition

The subjects and modules of the programme BA (Human Resource Management) are set out below. The entries of the departments concerned in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part provide the contents of individual modules. Consult the Calendar Part 10 for the contents of modules of the subject that is presented by the Faculty of Economic and Business Management Sciences (marked with *).

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

Please note:

If you, as a BA student, are selected for postgraduate study in the Department of Industrial Psychology, then you will migrate to the BComHons degree.

5.9 BA (Music)Specific Admission Requirements

- A National Senior Certificate (NSC) or school-leaving certificate from the Independent Examination Board (IEB) as certified by Umalusi with a mark of at least 4 (50%) in each of the four school subjects from the list of school subjects under “Undergraduate Programmes” in this Calendar Part.
- An average final mark in the NSC or the IEB school-leaving certificate (excluding Life Orientation) – 60%.
- Home Language – code 4 (50%).
- First Additional Language – code 3 (40%).
- Mathematics – code 6 (70%) (if you are taking Mathematics 114, 144).
- You must have a minimum standard equivalent to a Grade VII practical examination on your main instrument (or voice) and your knowledge must be equivalent to the Grade V theoretical examination of any of the music examination bodies.

BA (Music) is a selection programme where you are selected according to an audition and theoretical test. The selection takes place in the year preceding your registration for the programme.

- If you do not have the required skills, but show the necessary potential, you may possibly be accepted, provided that you register for supplementary work as specified by the department.
- If you are required to register for Musicology (Music Skills) 271 as an additional subject in the degree programme, you must pass the module before you will be allowed to proceed with Music Theory 222 and 252.
- Alternatively, you might be encouraged to first complete the entire year of the Higher Certificate programme before you reapply for admission to the BA (Music) programme.
- If your practical work is of sufficient standard, but you do not have the required academic/theoretical background, you could do the three-year Diploma in Practical Music instead of this degree programme.

Consult section 2 in this chapter for the undergraduate enrolment management as well as the “Guidelines and Procedures for Enrolment Management: Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences on the website www.sun.ac.za.

Programme Content and Structure

BA (Music) is a three-year programme. Consult the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part for information on the BA (Music) programme’s module contents as well as prerequisite pass and corequisite modules. The same chapter also provides the definitions of prerequisite pass and corequisite modules.

Please note: This programme does not have an option for the Extended Degree Programme.

Once you have obtained the degree BA (Music), you can register for the third year of the BMus programme’s specialisations in Musicology or Composition. Please note that the specialisation in Composition depends on selection.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of formal lectures per subject field per week, complemented by practical sessions, tutorials and individual practical tuition.

Compulsory attendance subjects

- If you are registered for Practical Music Study A 378 with an Orchestral instrument, then you must register for Orchestral Practice as attendance subject. You must attend all rehearsals (as a member of one or more of the recognised orchestras within the Department).
- As a full-time music student you are expected to attend a prescribed number of concerts presented by the Konservatorium, as well as the performance classes presented by the Department of Music. If your attendance is unsatisfactory in both instances, you will be penalised with a deduction of 10% off the class mark for your major instrument.

Programme Composition

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations and availability of lecturers for Practical Music Study. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

Programme Content and Structure

BMus is a four-year programme. Consult the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part for information on the BMus programme’s module contents as well as prerequisite pass and corequisite modules. In the same chapter you can find more information on other BA subjects in the calendar entries of the departments concerned.

Please note: This programme does not have an option for the Extended Degree Programme.

You can specialise within the BMus degree as from the third year. All practical specialisation routes, as well as Composition and Music Technology, are subject to selection and/or an audition. For more details consult the programme leader. The programme leader’s contact details are available at the end of this programme information.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of formal lectures per subject field per week, complemented by practical sessions, tutorials and individual practical tuition.

Compulsory attendance subjects

- If you are registered for Practical Music Study A 378 and 478 with an Orchestral instrument, then you must attend Orchestral Practice as attendance subject. You must attend all rehearsals (as a member of one or more of the recognised orchestras within the Department).

Programme Assessment

The assessment in this programme can be divided into practical and academic modules. In addition to the practical and academic modules in the BMus programme, consult the departments concerned for more information regarding the assessment of BA subjects as well as their entries in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part.

Practical modules

You take practical tests and examinations. If you are taking the following practical modules, you must use the first examination opportunity:

- Practical Music Study A, B, E and S
- Chamber Music
- Orchestral Study
- Ensemble Singing
- Accompaniment

Academic modules

Assessment is done by means of written and practical tests and examinations, written and practical assignments, and individual and group assignments in class context.

If flexible assessment is used in modules, you will be informed in writing at the beginning of the year on how the final mark is calculated. You will also receive regular feedback on your progress during the course of each module.

5.11 BA (Development and Environment)Specific Admission Requirements

- A National Senior Certificate (NSC) or the school-leaving certificate from the Independent Examination Board (IEB) as certified by Umalusi with a mark of at least 4 (50%) in each of the four school subjects from the list of school subjects under “Undergraduate Programmes” in this Calendar Part.
- An average final mark of 63% in the NSC or the IEB school-leaving certificate (excluding Life Orientation) for the three-year mainstream programme.
- An average final mark of 60-62,9% in the NSC (excluding Life Orientation) for the four-year Extended Degree Programme.
- Your National Benchmark Test results may be taken into consideration for placement in the Extended Degree Programme.
- Home Language – code 4 (50%).
- First Additional Language – code 3 (40%).
- Mathematics – code 5 (60%) (only if you will be taking Economics 114 or 144)

OR

Mathematics – code 4 (50%) OR Mathematical Literacy – code 6 (70%) (only if you will be taking Socio-Informatics).

Consult section 4 in this chapter for more information on the Extended Degree Programmes.

Programme Content and Structure

- a) The programme structure consists of five first-year subjects, four second-year subjects and two and a half third-year subjects. In all three years of study the following three core disciplines are compulsory, except for a limited choice in the final year:
 - Geography and Environmental Studies;
 - Sociology/Social Anthropology; and
 - Public and Development Management.
- b) In the final year you take two and a half subjects out of the three for a total of 120 credits.
- c) You do a certain amount of work in each of the major subjects that is designed to enhance the content integration within and between the major subjects and the overall coherence of the programme. This work, that forms part of the process of integrated assessment, can take on various forms such as (interdepartmental) seminars, written assignments, various forms of practical work, etc.
- d) Please note the following:
 - If you comply with the admission requirements for Mathematics, you can take Economics 114 and 144 in your first year, and Economics 214 and 244 in your second year. This will give you the economic-related subject support you need in order to understand and deal with developmental realities.
 - If you do not take Economics 114 and 144 in your first year, then you must take Economics 288 (no admission requirements in Mathematics) as a compulsory module in your second year.
 - Note that you can only take Basic Xhosa in your first year.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of formal lectures, tutorials, practicals, group work, individual assignments, self-study and field trips. You are expected to work more independently in your third year. Tuition techniques are monitored constantly and adjusted according to experience.

Programme Composition

The subjects and modules of the programme BA (Development and Environment) are set out below. You can find the contents of these subjects and modules in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part.

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

Consult Calendar Part 10 for module contents of modules that are presented by the Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences (marked with *).

Notes

Take note that study in a particular subject at Honours level is permitted only if you had the subject as a major for which you attained an average final mark of 60% or more.

Programme Assessment

Flexible assessment is done by means of tests, examinations and written assignments. Skills modules may also be assessed continuously by means of practical applications.

The manner in which individual modules are assessed, is explained in the module framework/study guide that is handed out during the first lecture of each module. Also consult the entries of the departments concerned in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part.

Please note: This programme does not have an option for the Extended Degree Programme.

Programme Content and Structure

- The programme consists of five subjects on first-year level, four on second-year level and three third-year level. You must take Information Skills in your first year.
- In the third year you take three major subjects:
 - Philosophy;
 - Political Science; and
 - Economics.

The modules consist of continued study of the abovementioned subjects. This means that you must have taken these modules on first-year and second-year levels.

- Besides the three major subjects, you must take two elective subjects in the first year, as specified in the accompanying programme composition. You can take any of these two elective subjects as a fourth subject in your second year.
- You do a certain amount of work in each of the three major subjects that is designed to enhance the content integration within and between the major subjects and the overall coherence of the programme. This work, that forms part of the process of integrated assessment, can take on various forms such as (interdepartmental) seminars, written assignments, various forms of practical work, etc.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of formal lectures, practicals and tutorials as required in the participating disciplines. You will also be given written assignments, which you must complete independently. Group work may also be used.

Programme Composition

The subjects and modules of the programme BA (Political, Philosophical and Economic Studies) are set out below. The entries of the departments concerned give the module contents in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part. OR Mathematics – code 6 (70%) (if you will be taking Mathematics 114, 144).

Consult section 4 in this chapter for more information on the Extended Degree Programmes.

Note

If you choose subjects in the Faculty of Economics and Management Sciences (marked with *) or the Faculty of Science (marked with ), see Calendar, Part 10 or 5 respectively, for more details and possible requirements for certain subjects.

Programme Content and Structure

The programme offers two options:

- Option 1 (Information Systems) partly consists of compulsory subjects and modules, and partly of a number of elective subjects. The core subjects are Socio-Informatics and Entrepreneurship and Innovation Management.
- Option 2 (Geo-Informatics) combines the subject Socio-Informatics with, among other, modules from Geography and Environmental Studies and, specifically in the second and third year, the modules in Geographical Information Technology. Please note: Option 2 is no longer presented.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of regular lectures, supplemented with seminars, tutorials and/or practicals. You can do your assignments, tests and examinations in English or Afrikaans.

The entries of the departments concerned in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” of this Calendar Part provide the module contents. Consult Calendar, Part 10 for the module contents of modules that are presented by the Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences (marked with *).

Programme Composition

Consult the entries of the departments concerned in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” for the contents of standard modules.

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

The subjects and modules of both Option 1 and 2 are presented below.

- First Additional Language – code 3 (40%).
- Mathematics – code 3 (40%) OR Mathematical Literacy – code 6 (70%).
- A minimum performance obtained in one of the following subjects – Physical Sciences code 3 (40%) OR Life Sciences code 4 (50%).

Please note: This programme does not have an option for the Extended Degree Programme.

Selection is done according to the guidelines and procedures of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and the Department of Sport Science. The selection policy for this programme is available from the Department’s selection officer. The selection officer handles all application and selection related queries.

Programme Content and Structure

- a) Your admission for this programme is subject to selection by the Department of Sport Science.
- b) The degree programme in Sport Science is a three-year programme. Sport Science can be followed in combination with one of the following subjects:
 - Afrikaans and Dutch;
 - English;
 - Geography and Environmental Studies; or
 - Psychology.
- c) Please note the following prerequisite requirements:
 - Sport Science 112 is a prerequisite pass module for Sport Science 262.
 - Physiology 114 and 144 are prerequisite modules for Sport Science 232 and 252.
 - Sport Science 184 is prerequisite pass module for Movement Studies, Sport and Recreation 282.

Special Provisions

1. Selection
 - Only a limited number of students are admitted annually to the first year of this programme.
 - You must apply by 30 June of the preceding year.
 - If you are not declared medically fit, you will not be allowed to register for the compulsory practical modules such as Sport Science 184.
2. Dress Code
 - You must obey the prescribed regulations regarding the dress code.
 - You can obtain particulars of these regulations from the Department of Sport Science at the beginning of the academic year.
3. Practical Classes
 - You must attend all practical classes.
 - The Department of Sport Science requires a minimum of 40% for each component of the practical classes.
 - You must pass all practical and theoretical modules with a minimum of 50%.

Presentation

The programme is presented by means of formal lectures, tutorials, practicals (including sports practicals), laboratory visits, group work, work assignments that are completed independently and self-study.

Programme Composition

You can find the contents of the subjects and modules that are set below in the chapter “Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents” in this Calendar Part, as well as in the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences’ Calendar Part (Part 12).

Your chosen subject combination depends on timetable considerations. The subjects and modules that you choose may not clash on the class, test and examination timetables. In addition, consult the schematic outline for permissible subject combinations on the fold-out page at the back of this Calendar Part.

Please note: This programme does not have an option for the Extended Degree Programme.

You must submit a portfolio of art works that is acceptable to the Department of Visual Arts to be selected for this programme. The portfolio requirements are available from the Faculty Administrator.

*Programme Content and StructureCurrent programme (programme phased in since 2019)

If you first registered for the Visual Arts programme in 2018, you follow the current programme structure from your second academic year.

Outgoing programme

If you first registered for the Visual Arts programme in or before 2017, you will complete the outgoing programme structure.

5.16.1 Current programme (programme phased in since 2019)

- The first year of the BA programme in Visual Arts is the same for all students, except where reference is made to specific subject choices. You already begin to specialise from the second year by choosing one of the following compulsory modules:
 - Jewellery Design;
 - Fine Arts; and
 - Visual Communication Design.
- From the second year of the degree programme, you can be required to do three weeks of practical holiday work as determined by the Department of Visual Arts.

Formal Requirements

- If you have modules outstanding with a total credit value of 24 (excluding Visual Arts modules), you can only register for the fourth year of the Visual Arts programme with the Department's permission.
- There is no second examination opportunity available in the programme BA (Visual Arts) for modules in Fine Arts in which the class mark functions as a final mark.

Presentation

The programme and all related subject modules are presented on the Stellenbosch campus.

Programme Composition

You can find the contents of the subjects and modules that are set out in the tables below in the chapter "Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents" in this Calendar Part.

Postgraduate Programmes

For more information on the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences' postgraduate programmes, consult the University's Postgraduate Prospectus or the various departmental websites.

1. Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

Special admission to the postgraduate programmes in the Faculty is available to you if you:

- were denied opportunities to formal learning environments earlier because of systemic or other limitations, but you can demonstrate that you can now participate at a particular level in such learning opportunities; or
- can receive retrospective recognition for them.

If you do not have a bachelor's degree, you must follow the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) procedure for admission to a postgraduate diploma, honours, MPhil or MA programme. Not all departments have the possibility of admission by means of the RPL procedure. A bachelor's degree awarded by a university of technology or a private provider of higher education will be recognised only if your degree is registered with the South African Qualifications Authority (SAQA) on the same level as the required university qualification. Please note: It remains the responsibility of a Department to establish if your existing qualification is up to standard.

More details of the Faculty's RPL procedure are available from the Faculty Administrator, Arts and Social Sciences, in the Admin A building.

2. General provisions for postgraduate programmes

2.1 Postgraduate diploma

- a) You follow a prescribed course for at least one year after obtaining an appropriate Bachelor's degree.
- b) The following postgraduate diplomas are only offered on a part-time basis over a residential period of two years:
 - Postgraduate Diploma in Knowledge and Information Systems Management
 - Postgraduate Diploma in Public Mental Health
- c) Admission requirements are determined according to your specific programme.
- d) Consult the rest of this chapter for more information on the admission requirements and programme contents of the specific postgraduate diploma you wish to follow.

2.2 Honours degree programme

- a) You follow a prescribed course for at least one year after obtaining an appropriate Bachelor's degree.
- b) You must follow the Honours degree programme in one of the major subjects of your Bachelor's degree.
- c) You will be admitted to the Honours degree programme if you –
 - have a Bachelor's degree that has been approved by Senate for this purpose;
 - have passed the subject at third-year/fourth-year level in which you want to take the Honours discipline; and
 - have achieved a final mark of at least 60% or more in the major.
- d) Consult the rest of this chapter for more information on the admission requirements and programme contents of the specific Honours degree programme you wish to follow.
- e) Consult the section "Postgraduate Qualifications" in Part 1 (General) of the University's Calendar for basic regulations.

2.3 MA degree programme

- a) You can be considered for admission to the MA degree if you –
 - have an appropriate Honours degree approved by Senate for this purpose;

OR

 - have an appropriate postgraduate diploma approved by Senate for this purpose;

OR

 - have achieved a standard of proficiency in your specific field of study in another manner that Senate considers as adequate for this purpose and, upon written application, were admitted by the Executive Committee to the Master's programme concerned.
- b) As a MA student you follow an approved curriculum of research and/or advanced study of at least one year (after obtaining an appropriate Honours degree or postgraduate diploma) at this University or another institution approved by Senate.
- c) You must follow the MA degree programme in the same field as the postgraduate diploma or Honours degree.
- d) Consult the section "Postgraduate Qualifications" in Part 1 (General) of the University's Calendar for basic regulations.

2.4 MPhil degree programme

- a) You can be considered for admission to the MPhil degree if you –
- have an appropriate postgraduate diploma or Honours degree approved by Senate for this purpose;
- OR
- have achieved a standard of proficiency in your specific field of study in another manner that Senate considers as adequate for this purpose and, upon written application, were admitted by the Executive Committee to the MPhil programme concerned.
- b) As MPhil student you follow an approved curriculum of research and/or advanced study of at least one year (after obtaining an appropriate Honours degree or postgraduate diploma) at this University or another institution approved by Senate.
- c) Admission requirements for the MPhil degree are determined according to the specific programme.
- d) Consult the section “Postgraduate Qualifications” in Part 1 (General) of the University’s Calendar for basic regulations.

2.5 PhD degree programme

- a) You must, after consulting the departmental chairperson concerned, apply in writing for admission to doctoral study. In your written application you must mention the proposed title of the dissertation and the supervisor.
- b) You can obtain the guidelines for a doctoral research proposal or registration without an approved research proposal from the Faculty Administrator.
- c) Consult the section “Postgraduate Qualifications” in Part 1 (General) of the University’s Calendar for basic regulations.

Specific Admission Requirements

- A Master's degree with training in Theatre Studies and/or Theatre Arts or Theatre Skills or an acceptable equivalent qualification approved by Senate and an approved research proposal.
- If you do not have a BAHons in Drama and Theatre Studies from Stellenbosch University's Department of Drama, you may be required, on recommendation of the supervisor, to take and pass the following supplementary BAHons module:
 - 12813: Introduction to Research Methodology (Drama and Theatre Studies) 771.

Closing Date for Applications

Apply by 30 November of the preceding year.

Registration can only take place after submission and approval of a research proposal. Contact the Department as soon as possible to ensure that there is a suitable supervisor available for the studies.

Programme Structure

Doctoral degrees in the arts are research degrees culminating in a dissertation. The study as a whole can consist of theoretical work or it can be the result of an integrated study of the creative processes and theoretical work which are reported in a dissertation. The unique nature of the integrated option is derived from the coherence and interdependency of the study of the creative process and theoretical dimensions of the research leading to an original contribution to knowledge and insight into the arts.

Programme ContentCompulsory Module

54267 : Drama and Theatre Studies	978(360)

3.9.2 BInfHons (Information System Management)

(Subject to registration with the South African Qualifications Authority [SAQA])

Programme Code

11852 – 778(120)

Specific Admission Requirements

Any bachelor's degree (NQF Level 7 qualification) with specialisation in Informatics/Information Systems Management/Computer Science.

For example:

- BA (Humanities) with Socio-Informatics as major
- BCom (Management Sciences) (Focus Area in Information Systems Management)

Selection

Selection of students in accordance with the University's official selection policy may be unavoidable due to the limited number of students that can be accommodated in the programme.

Closing Date for Applications

Applications for a specific year must be received by the end of October of the previous year.

Duration of Programme

Twelve months.

Programme Description

The purpose of the programme is twofold. Firstly, it aims to consolidate and deepen the knowledge and skills of students with bachelor's degrees in the area of Informatics. In doing so the programme aims to deliver a mature graduate with a holistic understanding of information systems as socio-technical phenomena operating in the context of social collectives. Due to the nature of the content covered in the programme, it is envisaged that graduates would be more suited to managerial positions in ISM contexts, as opposed to junior developer/analyst positions. The second purpose of the programme is to introduce students to the various aspects of conducting research in the fields of Informatics, Information Systems, Knowledge Management and others. As part of the programme students are expected to conduct a research assignment (30 credits).

Programme content

A minimum of 120 credits.

Compulsory modules

13365 : Advanced Information Systems Theory and Practice	771(30)
13368 : Computing in Information Systems	771(30)
13368 : Information and Knowledge in Organisations	771(30)
13369 : Research Assignment Information Systems Management	771(30)

Assessment and Examination

Three of the four modules follow a flexible assessment policy in which students will be assessed through multiple tests/projects/assignments based on the nature of the content taught. The research module will be examined through the evaluation of a written report.

3.9.3 MA (Socio-Informatics)Programme Code

58173 – 879(180)

Specific Admission Requirements

- An honours degree at NQF level 8 with an average final mark of at least 65% in an appropriate area of Informatics.

Admission to the programme is dependent upon selection based on academic achievement, and takes place in November of the previous year. Details on selection is available at www.sun.ac.za/psychology.

Programme Structure

The programme is presented in English.

The programme focuses on advanced knowledge of human behaviour, intrapsychic as well as interpersonal, normal as well as abnormal, individually as well as in group contexts. It also encompasses the application of such knowledge in the multi-cultural South African society, particularly with regard to the understanding of specific psychosocial problems and the development of intervention and preventative strategies. In addition, the programme also focuses on the development of critical-analytical and problem-solving thinking skills, as well as social-scientific research knowledge and skills.

Please note that the Honours programme at Stellenbosch University is an academic programme. It is not designed to meet the requirements for the Professional Board for Psychology for registration as a psychological counsellor or as a psychometrist, and does not serve as an entrance qualification for internships in these areas. Professional training in this Department is offered only at master's level.

Based on the credit values of modules (indicated in brackets after each module) a selection of modules is made to a minimum of 120 credits for the programme.

Duration of Programme

The Honours programme in Psychology is a one-year full-time programme. Lectures begin in the first week of February and is divided according to the undergraduate academic terms.

Programme Content

Depending on staff availability, certain modules may not be offered every year. For certain modules a restriction may be placed on the number of students. If the demand for a specific module is too small in any given year, that module may not be offered in that year.

3.15.3 MA (Clinical Psychology)Programme Code

24813 – 899(180)

Specific Admission Requirements

- An Honours degree in Psychology or equivalent qualification that Senate has approved for admission to the programme, completed with a minimum final mark of 65%.
- Proficiency in at least two official languages.

Closing Date for Applications

Apply by 30 May of the preceding year. Admission is subject to selection, which takes place in August of the preceding year. Application forms and information on the selection process are available on the Department of Psychology's website at www.sun.ac.za/psychology.

Programme Structure

The programme focuses on the identification and treatment of psychopathology in children and adults, as well as on the development, implementation and assessment of preventative and remedial programmes. The theoretical component is presented in English and consists of different modules which cover the broad terrain of Clinical Psychology. The practical component of the programme requires you to be involved in the diagnostic assessment and psychotherapeutic treatment of adults, children and families, and to undertake individual community projects. You must be involved continuously throughout the year (approximately 15 to 20 hours per week) with the Welgevalen Community Psychological Clinic, community clinics and within departmental community projects. An assignment, based on independent research under supervision, must also be completed.

This programme satisfies the conditions and requirements of the Professional Board for Psychology for the professional training of clinical psychologists and is accredited as such with the Professional Board. In order to register as a clinical or psychologist the Professional Board for Psychology requires:

1. The successful completion of examinations and practical work;
2. A full-time internship of 12 months accredited by the Professional Board;
3. 12 months of community service; and
4. The successful completion of the Professional Board's examination for psychologists.

Registration with the Board as a clinical psychologist is determined by whether a clinical accredited internship has been completed. Details about internships and community service is available from the programme leader.

Duration of Programme

The programme is presented full-time for the duration of one academic year.

Programme ContentCompulsory Modules

13883 : Assignment (Clinical Psychology)	875(60)
11561 : Professional Development	875(30)
13881 : Psychological Assessment	875(50)
13882 : Psychological Interventions	875(40)

Assessment and Examination

Practical work is assessed continuously, and all practical work must be successfully completed as a prerequisite for obtaining the degree. In order to pass the degree, a minimum final mark of 50% is required in all of the subsections of each module. In addition, marks will be moderated, and students' ability to apply and integrate knowledge and skills will be assessed by means of an oral examination. The oral examination panel will include one external examiner. You must pass this final oral examination in order for the degree to be conferred. Therefore, even if you pass all the other programme components, but fail the oral exam, you fail the programme. After you have passed the final oral examination, your final mark for the programme will be calculated based on the relative weights of the different modules as indicated by their respective credit values.

3.18.6 PhD (Visual Arts)Programme Code

59846 – 978(360)

Specific Admission Requirements

An MA degree in Fine Arts or MA degree in Visual Studies or an acceptable equivalent qualification regarded by the Senate as adequate for admission to the programme that provides evidence of the ability to conduct advanced independent research.

Details of the selection process is available from the Department.

Closing Date for Applications

Apply by 30 November of the preceding year.

Programme Structure

Doctoral degrees in the arts are research degrees culminating in a dissertation. The study as a whole can consist of theoretical work or it can be the results of an integrated study of the creative processes and theoretical work which are reported in a dissertation. The unique nature of the integrated option is derived from the coherence and interdependency of the study of the creative process and theoretical dimensions of the research leading to an original contribution to knowledge and insight into the arts.

You must present your research for comment on a regular basis. You must, from time to time, present papers dealing with your research at seminars for informal discussion.

Programme ContentCompulsory Module

59846 : Visual Arts	978(360)

Assessment and Examination

A dissertation that is assessed according to the regulations of Stellenbosch University. You must do an oral examination in addition to the dissertation. Also consult Calendar, Part 1 (General), on doctoral studies.

The dissertation must comprise a minimum of 50 000 words. All the material presented for the dissertation, including the creative work where applicable, is assessed as a whole by the examiners appointed according to the normal procedures of the University.

Undergraduate Subjects, Modules and Module Contents

1. Definitions and explanations of important terms

It is important that you take note of the definitions of a few terms in order to understand and use this chapter fully. The example below shows how these terms will appear later in this chapter.

Example:

18414 Psychology
114 (12) Psychology as a Science (2L, 1T)

1.1 Explanation of the abovementioned terms

- Five-digit subject number

18414 Psychology

Each subject is identified by this five digit-subject number. The subject number “18414” refers to the subject Psychology.

- Subject name

18414 Psychology

The specific name of the subject is presented directly after the five-digit subject number before the various modules of the subject are offered. Normally the subject name is followed by the module code and the credit value of the specific module, for example in this case: Psychology 114 (12).

- Module code

114(12) Psychology as a Science (2L, 1T)

The module code consists of a three-digit number that is unique to the specific module. The module code “114” has the following meaning:

- The first digit refers to the year of study in which the module is presented, for example:

Year 1: 114

Year 2: 214

Year 3: 314

- The second digit “1” refers to the semester that the module will be presented in and also serves as a number to distinguish between various modules offered within the same specific year of study. The University uses different numbers to indicate the particular semester of a module, either the first or the second semester or modules that are presented in both semesters (which are year modules). The numbers that indicate semesters are as follows:

- 1, 2 or 3 – modules are presented in the first semester.

Semester 1: 214, 324, 334

- 4, 5 or 6 – modules are presented in the second semester.

Semester 2: 342, 354, 364

- 7, 8 or 9 – modules are presented in both semesters, which are year modules.

Year modules (both): 278, 288, 391

- The third digit “4” of the module code 114 serves as a distinguishing digit between various modules of the same subject in a particular year of study.

- Credit value

114 (12) Psychology as a Science (2L, 1T)

The number in brackets after the module code indicates the credit value of the particular module, for example Psychology 114(12). When you pass Psychology 114(12), you will receive 12 credits.

- Module subject

114 (12) Psychology as a Science (2L, 1T)

This indicates the subject that will be dealt with in this specific module.

- Teaching load: The teaching load of a module is indicated after the module subject. It gives you both the teaching load and the type of teaching per week that you can expect in this particular module. For the module Psychology 114 you can expect two lectures and one tutorial each week for the duration of the module. The following abbreviations are used for the teaching load:
 - L – Lecture of 50 minutes, for example 2L
 - P – Practical period of 50 minutes, for example 1P, 2P, 3P
 - S – Seminar of 50 minutes, for example 1S, 2S
 - T – Tutorial of 50 minutes, for example 1T, 2T

2. Prerequisite pass, prerequisite and corequisite modules

After the description of the content of the module, the prerequisite pass, prerequisite and corequisite modules, where applicable, are given for that module. The following abbreviations are used:

- Prerequisite pass module
 - A prerequisite pass module is a module that you must pass before you can take the module(s) for which it is a prerequisite pass module.
- Prerequisite module
 - A prerequisite module is a module in which you must obtain a class mark of at least 40%, or a final mark of at least 40% in the case of a module subject to flexible assessment, before you can take the module for which it is a prerequisite module.
- Corequisite module
 - A corequisite module is a module that you must take in the same academic year as the module for which it is a corequisite, or in an earlier academic year.

2.1 Condition for the granting of a qualification or degree

The Faculty will only award a qualification if you have passed all the relevant prerequisite and corequisite modules of the specific degree programme.

3. Assessment of modules

It is indicated at the module contents how specific modules are assessed.

4. Subjects, modules and module contents

Subjects with their accompanying modules, credits, module subjects, teaching loads, and module contents are presented below.

Department of African Languages

1. Provision for students who already passed a course in the Nguni language group:
 - Students who have already passed a course in the Nguni language group at another university may not follow a similar course in the same language group in this Department. In other words, a student who, for example, has passed a first-year course in Zulu, a language in the Nguni language group, may not follow a first-year course in Xhosa. Such a student could, however, follow a second- or third-year course in Xhosa, depending on the prior study.
2. In all modules a system of flexible assessment is used.

41505 African Languages

The subject modules in African languages focus on the comparative study of a wide variety of phenomena in the literature, linguistics and communication analysis in different African languages. The study content is directed towards equipping students with the knowledge and ability to explore the variation amongst different African languages and to take these variations into account, in an informed manner, when solving problems characteristic of language and communication services for African languages.

The subject modules in African languages are especially important to students who will work in careers where knowledge of the variations amongst African languages is important. The modules represent a progression in advanced study from the first to the third year.

114 (12) Introductory Study of African Languages (3L, 1T)

Classification of the African languages;

Language planning and language policy for the African languages;

Communication analysis of selected African languages in a range of communication contexts;

Comparative study of literature from selected African languages: a choice of genres;

Comparative study of linguistics from selected African languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

144 (12) Continued Introductory Study of African Languages (3L, 1T)

Communication analysis of selected African languages in a range of communication contexts;
 Comparative study of language and cultural phenomena in selected African languages;
 Comparative study of literature of selected African languages: a choice of genres;
 Comparative study of linguistics of selected African languages.

Prerequisite Module: African Languages 114

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

214 (16) Intermediate Study of African Languages (3L, 1T)

Continued study of comparative communication analysis of selected African languages;
 Continued study of comparative literature of selected African languages;
 Continued study of comparative linguistics of selected African languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite modules: African Languages 114 and 144 (on condition that one of the previously mentioned modules has been passed)

244 (16) Continued Intermediate Study of African Languages (3L, 1T)

Continued study of comparative communication analysis of selected African languages;
 Continued study of comparative literature of selected African languages;
 Continued study of comparative linguistics of selected African languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: African Languages 214

318 (24) Advanced Study of the African Languages (4L, 1T)

Advanced comparative study of language and cultural phenomena;
 Advanced study of communication analysis of selected African languages;
 Advanced study of comparative literature of selected African languages;
 Advanced study of comparative linguistics of selected African languages;
 Study of language learning and teaching in selected African languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: African Languages 244

348 (24) Continued Advanced Study of African Languages (4L, 1T)

Advanced comparative study of language and cultural phenomena;
 Advanced study of comparative communication analysis of selected African languages;
 Advanced study of comparative literature of selected African languages;
 Advanced study of comparative linguistics of selected African languages;
 Study of language learning and teaching of selected African languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: African Languages 318

49638 Basic Xhosa*Special provisions for taking Basic Xhosa*

1. Students who have passed Xhosa for the matriculation or other equivalent examination may not follow Basic Xhosa for degree purposes.
2. No previous knowledge of Xhosa is required.
3. Basic Xhosa normally does not lead to continuation of Xhosa in the second year, but in exceptional circumstances the Department may grant permission for such study in the second year.
4. Basic Xhosa may not be taken as a separate course in addition to Xhosa 178 for degree purposes.
5. Basic Xhosa 114 is a prerequisite for Basic Xhosa 144.
6. Basic Xhosa 174 is aimed at staff and students from other faculties, as well as the general public, who are unable to attend regular classes but wish to learn Xhosa at a basic level. It is offered after-hours over the course of the full academic year.

Department of Afrikaans and Dutch

57487 Afrikaans Language Acquisition

178 (24) Afrikaans for Foreign Language Speakers (3L, 2P)

Only students with no training in Afrikaans or who had Afrikaans as a Second Additional Language are admitted to this module.

An integrated approach is followed in the module to study the four communication skills – reading, listening, talking and writing:

- Elementary interaction around a narrative text and thematically related texts (general and literary).
- Strategic reading and listening skills in academic lecture situations.
- Relevant language study and vocabulary enhancement.

Notes

1. Recommendations on the placing of students in Afrikaans Language Acquisition 178 or in Afrikaans Language Acquisition 188 are based on departmental language-proficiency tests which are written at the beginning of the year.
2. Students of Speech-Language and Hearing Therapy I and the Extended Degree Programme for Speech-Language and Hearing Therapy I of the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences are placed in either Xhosa 178 or Afrikaans Language Acquisition 178 or 188 according to a language proficiency test.
3. This module does not lead to Afrikaans and Dutch 278.
4. See the departmental information document for further details.

Method of assessment

A system of flexible assessment is used in Afrikaans Language Acquisition 178. Students are informed in writing at the beginning of the module about the way in which the final mark is calculated and receive regular feedback on their progress in the course of the module. An oral exam takes place at the end of each semester.

188 (24) Afrikaans as Second Language (3L, 2P)

Only students with Afrikaans as First Additional Language and whose mother language is not Afrikaans are admitted to this module. No mother-tongue speakers of Afrikaans or students who passed Afrikaans as a Home Language may take this module. An integrated approach is followed in the module to study the four communication skills – reading, listening, talking and writing.

Students encounter various methods of language study:

- Advanced interaction around thematically related texts (general and literary)
- Strategic reading and listening skills in academic lecture situations
- Relevant grammar study
- Visual media and film study
- Oral communication

Notes

1. Recommendations on the placing of students in Afrikaans Language Acquisition 188 or in Afrikaans and Dutch 178 are based on departmental language-proficiency tests which are written at the beginning of the year.
2. Students of Speech-Language and Hearing Therapy I and the Extended Degree Programme for Speech-Language and Hearing Therapy I in the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences are placed in either Xhosa 178 or Afrikaans Language Acquisition 178 or 188 according to a language proficiency test.
3. This module does not lead to Afrikaans and Dutch 278.
4. See the departmental information document for further details.

Method of assessment

An oral examination takes place at the end of each semester.
2. See the departmental information document for further details.

288 (32) Afrikaans as a Second Language (3L, 2P)

Only students who have passed Afrikaans Language Acquisition 188 are admitted to this module. No mother-language speakers of Afrikaans may enrol for this module.

The module's focus is to equip students to:

- Understand and use the main characteristics of a variety of Afrikaans texts and understand and use how meaning is created through it.
- Develop and use communicative language skills.
- Apply and use strategic reading and listening skills.
- Develop and use speaking skills.
- Develop and use literary skills.

Method of assessment

A system of flexible assessment is used in Afrikaans Language Acquisition 288. Students are informed at the beginning of the module about the way in which the final mark is calculated and receive regular feedback on their progress in the course of the module. An oral exam takes place at the end of each semester.

Department of Ancient Studies

1. In all modules a system of flexible assessment is used. At the outset of every module students are informed in writing of the way in which their marks are calculated and for the duration of the module they receive regular feedback on their progress.
2. Law students who do not want to take a course in Latin, but still have an interest in the Roman legal-cultural heritage, can develop this interest by taking the Classical Legal Culture modules in their first year of study. These modules jointly grant admission to Ancient Cultures in the second and third years.

53813 Ancient Cultures

1. In Ancient Cultures the cultures of Southwestern Asia and North Africa and the ancient Greek and Roman civilisations are studied – the cultures that laid the foundation of our contemporary worldview, values, literature and arts. The relevance of these cultures for contemporary legal institutions and social structures, forms of critical thought and dialogue, religion, mythology, arts and literature is explicitly treated.

Nota bene: Module contents are offered alternately in successive years. Consult the Department for further details. Details are also available in the departmental brochure and on the Department's webpage at www.sun.ac.za/as.

2. Second- and third-year students take classes together, but for third-years additional and more advanced reading, more self-study, and more advanced knowledge are required that will be assessed on a more advanced level.

114 (12) Introduction to the Ancient World I (3L, 1P)

Cultures of Southwestern Asia (Anatolia, Levant, Mesopotamia, Persia) and North Africa (Egypt, Sudan, Ethiopia).

We read some of the oldest stories of humanity (in English translation) originally written in the oldest writing systems of the world (e.g. Mesopotamian cuneiform and Egyptian hieroglyphs), namely:

- Epic of Gilgamesh – the world's oldest story about the Mesopotamian king and the question of the meaning of life
- Egyptian short stories – describing travels and social issues
- Ethiopian Kebra Negast – the story of the famous Queen of Sheba

These stories are read in their context. Attention is given to various aspects of culture: the environment, main historical events, writing systems and languages, social and political institutions, technology and buildings, religious and moral values, visual arts and literature – all aspects which still have an influence today.

144 (12) Introduction to the Ancient World II (3L, 1P)

The Greek and Roman cultures.

Introduction to the culture, myths and history of ancient Greece, using Homer's Iliad (a literary account of the Graeco-Trojan War) and Odyssey (the exciting story of one man's journey home from Troy). The interaction between ancient and modern is also explored through modern works inspired by Homer and other ancient traditions concerning the gods and goddesses, heroines and heroes of Bronze Age Greece and Troy.

The second half of the module approaches the ancient Romans through a social-historical study of life in the city of Pompeii before its destruction in 79 CE. Incorporating the works of Roman historians, letter writers and philosophers with the unique archaeological remains of Pompeii and surrounding cities, the goal is to bring the lives of everyday people into sharp focus, as students continue to sharpen the reading, writing and interpretation skills developed in the preceding months.

Recommendation for students intending to pursue Ancient Cultures through to postgraduate level: You are advised to take up an ancient language during the course of your studies. Languages on offer in the Ancient Studies Department are Latin, Greek and Biblical Hebrew. Enquiries: ldam@sun.ac.za or lecturers in the Department.

Ancient Cultures 211, 221, 241, 251, 311, 321, 341 and 351

In the second- and third-year modules, we rotate themes related to social structures, world view, literature, art, mythology and everyday life in the ancient world and their reception in the contemporary world. The third-year modules are more advanced in terms of the level of difficulty, contact time, and number and types of assessment.

351 (12) Advanced Ancient Cultures (2L, 0.5P)

The themes for Ancient Cultures 211, 221, 241, 251, 311, 321, 341 and 351 that are rotated include the following:

Western Asian mythology: Some of the oldest myths and epics originated in ancient Western Asia more than five millennia ago. Myths and epics allowed people to make sense of how the world came into being and how it works. They are important for an understanding of any culture, because they “explain” the origin of the cosmos, worldview and political ideologies.

Ancient Kush (Sudan): One of the great cultures of Africa which need not stand back for Egypt in any way. More pyramids were built than in Egypt, women played an important role as rulers, and they produced some of the oldest pottery in the world. Some argue the culture is more “African” in character than Egypt.

Everyday Life in Kemet (Egypt): Where and how did the people of Kemet live? What did they eat and drink? What work did they do and how did the economy work? What did they do for entertainment and which sports/games were there? What about pets and animals? How did they deal with health issues?

Women of Kemet (Egypt): The life of ordinary women with regard to social and legal position, occupations and professions, love and marriage, health and children, dress and adornment, domestic life and religion (including afterlife). Attention is also devoted to women of power (queens) and divine women (goddesses).

Reading ancient Greek art: This theme explores ancient Greek visual culture in context. Iconic Greek ‘masterpieces’ are examined critically, as well as their reception in later and contemporary art. It also covers heritage and ethical issues, including dilemmas around the ownership and preservation of antiquities and also of culture.

Ancient Drama: The theatre of the ancient Greeks and Romans influenced later dramatic genres. On the African continent classical drama has been an instrument of both reinforcement of colonial ideologies, and as political protest. This theme studies specific tragedies and comedies from antiquity to explore contemporary issues such as exile and displacement, violence against women and patriarchy.

Rome, Empire and Material Remains: Augustus, the first emperor of Rome, used a language of imagery to propagate messages about himself and his empire. The imperial sculptures, buildings, coins, inscriptions, and monuments communicate ideological statements about values, strength, power and authority. This theme investigates the power of images during the Roman Empire and more recent and contemporary examples of visual political propaganda.

Ancient Greek/Roman mythology: The theme covers Greek and the Roman myths through a variety of genres. The topics covered include archaeology and myth; modern theories on the nature and function of myth; the role of mythology in ancient literary works (like Greek lyrical poetry or Roman love poems); the depiction of mythological scenes on ancient vases; myth as a reflection of world view; and myth as propaganda.

53848 Biblical Hebrew

Biblical Hebrew: Special provision for students who have already graduated

- Students who have already graduated can, on the recommendation of the Department, be allowed to complete both the first- and second-year modules jointly in Biblical Hebrew in one year.

Department of Drama

1. Commencement of classes for Theatre Arts students
 - Classes for all senior Theatre Arts students (Level 2, Level 3) and all postgraduate students (Honours, Master's and PhD) begin every year one week before the general commencement of classes for senior students, i.e. on the Monday of the week during which first-year students first arrive at the University.
2. General provisions for Theatre Arts and Theatre Skills subjects
 - No student will be permitted to join the Theatre Arts or Theatre Skills subjects late.
 - The pass requirement for Theatre Arts and Theatre Skills is a minimum of 50% in each of the subsections of the subjects. A student who does not obtain the required sub-minimum in one or more of the subsections thus does not pass the subject, even though the average mark for the subject as a whole is above 50%. The Department of Drama reserves the right to refuse readmission to the programme to students who have been awarded a final mark of less than 50% for one or both subjects Theatre Arts and Theatre Skills.
 - Because a teamwork approach is adopted in presenting the Theatre Arts and Theatre Skills courses, class attendance is essential. Therefore, students who miss more than 10% of the practical classes, even for medical or other acceptable reasons, are normally not permitted to proceed with the subject.

- Because the Theatre Arts and Theatre Skills courses entail extensive physical and psychological involvement by the student, any students with a medical condition that could prevent them from participating regularly in practical classes, must indicate this prior to registration, with supporting documentation from a medical practitioner, for consideration by the Department.
- On account of their interdependence the modules Theatre Arts and Theatre Skills must be presented and taken together at each level (Basic, Intermediary and Advanced). If a student abandons or is incomplete, for any reason, in one module, he may not continue with the other module at that level, but must repeat both modules. The above is the general rule in this regard, but exceptions can be made in consultation with the Department. In this category are students who pass only one of the modules and who must thus repeat the other module in the following year, as well as students who obtain recognition for prior study at an acknowledged tertiary institution for certain subjects, and for whom such recognition has been made applicable to one of the modules (Theatre Arts or Theatre Skills).
- Students in their second and third years may be obliged to remain in Stellenbosch during the two short vacations and on public holidays, as well as for short periods during the winter and summer vacations.

44377 Theatre Arts

Special provisions for Theatre Arts

1. Theatre Arts can be taken only as part of the BA degree programme Drama and Theatre Studies and in combination with Theatre Studies and Theatre Skills.
2. Theatre Arts entails training in the integrative techniques necessary to produce a theatre performance. The course involves theoretical as well as practical work, and attendance at and participation in theatre productions and other performances are an inherent part of the course.

The Department of Drama distinguishes between the modules for the two specialisation options within the Department at the intermediate level:

- Option A: Acting and performance training
- Option B: Technical and management training

This distinction is continued at the advanced level.

178 (24) Introduction to Acting and Stage Skills (2L, 8P)

Basic skills in acting and improvisation.

Introduction to developing the technical skills required for stage presentation.

Basic theoretical knowledge of the above aspects.

Participation in productions only as a member of the technical team.

278 (32) Acting and Production (1L, 10P)

(Option A)

Theories of acting of the leading Western theatre practitioners.

Theoretical introduction to alternative theatre forms.

Participation as actor in public performances after the successful completion of an audition.

288 (32) Theatre Design and Production (3L, 6P)

(Option B)

Continuation of development of technical skills for stage presentation.

Introduction to production design and concept execution.

Practical work on departmental productions.

379 (48) Acting and Production (2L, 10P)

(Option A)

Continuation of contents as for 278 as well as practical exploration of alternative theatre forms and media.

Training in relevant aspects of practice and industry.

389 (48) Theatre Design and Production (4L, 6P)

(Option B)

Continuation of theory of design and the implementation of production design and set presentation.

Training in relevant aspects of practice and industry.

52531 Theatre Skills

Specific provisions for Theatre Skills

1. Theatre Skills can be taken only as part of the BA degree programme in Drama and Theatre Studies and in combination with Theatre Studies and Theatre Arts.
2. Theatre Skills provides training in the key techniques required for producing a theatre performance. The course entails both theoretical work and practical training in verbal and non-verbal communication, voice development, movement and technical aspects such as design and management. Attendance at and participation in theatre productions as well as other performances form an inherent part of the course.

The Department of Drama distinguishes between the modules for the two specialisation options within the Department at the intermediate level:

- Option A: Acting and performance training
- Option B: Technical and management training

This distinction is continued at the Advanced Level.

178 (24) Theatre Techniques (2L, 4P)

Practical exercises to promote speech, voice development and movement skills or production provision.

Basic theory of speech, voice development and movement or stage management.

278 (32) Speech and Movement (1L, 6P)

(Option A)

Advanced speech, voice and movement theory.

Practical exercises and projects to develop skills in stage speech, general voice development and movement.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

288 (32) Stage Management and Media Techniques (3L, 6P)

(Option B)

Theory of technical aspects of the media (radio and television) and stage management.

Practical class exercise in stage management.

Participation in stage management for public theatre productions.

378 (24) Speech and Movement (1L, 6P)

(Option A)

Continuation of contents as for 278.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

14032 Theatre Studies

Specific provisions for Theatre Studies

Theatre Studies can be taken as an independent module in the BA in Drama and Theatre Studies, the BA (Language and Culture) and the BA (Humanities) programmes.

Theatre Studies entails a theoretical study of the nature, history and techniques of drama, theatre, dance and film. Students are not expected to do any practical work, although attendance at theatre productions and other performances is an inherent part of the course as these activities form part of the study material.

114 (12) Introduction to Western Theatre and Principles of Text Study (3L, 1T)

Introduction to basic concepts in theatre studies.

Introduction to techniques and methods of textual analysis and interpretation through a study of selected plays in context as part of a survey of the history of the theatre and of theatre conventions and conditions of Western drama and theatre from the Greeks to Realism.

144 (12) Continued Study of Western Theatre and Principles of Text Study (3L, 1T)

Introduction to techniques and methods of textual analysis and interpretation through examining selected plays in context as part of a historical survey of theatre, theatre conventions and theatre conditions of Western drama and theatre from Realism until the twentieth century.

214 (16) Textual Analysis (3L, 1T)

A thematic study of texts in context with reference to productions, visual material and published texts, including South African material.

244 (16) Theatre History: Theory and Forms of Drama and Theatre (3L, 1T)

Introduction to theory of drama and theatre.

Principles of theatre studies and theatre research.

Introduction to selected genres of drama and theatre.

Overview of the main trends in drama, theatre, media and performance theory and research.

318 (24) History, Performative Forms, and Text Analysis (4L)

A study of non-Western performative forms, with reference to some examples.

A study of African theatre, with reference to some forms and texts.

Survey of the main trends in South African theatre through a study of texts in context.

348 (24) Textual Analysis: Media and Film (4L)

Introduction to the theory of the mass communication media (including radio and television).

Critical analysis of diverse media texts.

Film studies and history of film, including South African media and film practice.

Department of English53880 English Studies*178 (24) Literature and Language in Context (1L, 2S)

The module is designed to develop the student's ability to analyse a wide variety of texts and to communicate effectively in written and spoken English. The focus is on cultural and literary studies and on the development of an appropriate academic discourse. A description of the components listed below and the list of texts are provided in the Course Prospectus.

All students take the following lecture components:

- Text and Context
- Film Studies
- Prose
- Drama

Method of assessment

The Department follows a system of flexible assessment, with marks accruing from formal tests and written work. See Course Prospectus for details.

Notes

Full details of the modules may be found in the Course Prospectus, available on the Department's web site at <http://www0.sun.ac.za/english/students/undergraduate/eng-178/>.

214 (16) Reading Literature and Culture (2L, 2S)

This module develops familiarity with the disciplinary scope of English literary and cultural studies. Course materials range from early modern to contemporary literature and include other expressive media, such as film. The module aims to hone critical reading and writing skills, and is taught by means of lectures and elective seminars.

Method of assessment

The Department follows a system of flexible assessment, with marks accruing from formal tests, as well as academic essays and other forms of writing produced within the context of the seminar.

Notes

1. Students must pass semester one, English Studies 214, in order to be eligible for English Studies 318 and English Studies 348.
2. Full details of the module may be found in the Course Prospectus, available on the Department's web site at <http://www0.sun.ac.za/english/students/>.

Prerequisite pass module: English Studies 178

244 (16) Reading Literature and Culture (2L, 2S)

The module develops familiarity with the disciplinary scope of English literary and cultural studies. Course materials range from early modern to contemporary literature and include other expressive media, such as film. The module aims to hone critical reading and writing skills, and is taught by means of lectures and elective seminars.

Method of assessment

The Department follows a system of flexible assessment, with marks accruing from formal tests, as well as academic essays and other forms of writing produced within the context of the seminar.

Notes

1. Students must pass semester two, English Studies 244, in order to be eligible for English Studies 318 and English Studies 348.
2. English Studies 244 is designed as the continuation of English Studies 214, but either course may be taken on its own as a semester module.
3. Full details of the module may be found in the Course Prospectus, available on the Department's web site at <http://www0.sun.ac.za/english/students/>.

Prerequisite pass module: English Studies 178

318 (24) Reading Literature, Culture and Theory (4L, 2S)

This module is designed around a cluster of interrelated themes which are explored in reading a range of literary and other texts in lectures and elective seminars with the view to consolidating the various critical skills developed in the previous two years of study, while expanding students' familiarity with the disciplinary scope of English literary and cultural studies.

Method of assessment

The Department follows a system of flexible assessment, with marks accruing from formal tests and tutorial written work which includes essays.

Notes

Details of the modules may be found in the Course Prospectus, available on the Department's web site at: <http://www0.sun.ac.za/english/students/>.

Prerequisite pass module: English Studies 278 or English Studies 214 and English Studies 244

348 (24) Reading Literature, Culture and Theory (4L, 2S)

This module is designed around a cluster of interrelated themes which are explored in reading a range of literary and other texts in lectures and elective seminars with the view to consolidating the various critical skills developed in the previous two years of study, while expanding students' familiarity with the disciplinary scope of English literary and cultural studies.

Method of assessment

The Department follows a system of flexible assessment, with marks accruing from formal tests and tutorial written work which includes essays.

Notes

1. Details of the modules may be found in the Course Prospectus, available on the Department's web site at <http://www0.sun.ac.za/english/students/>.
2. English Studies 348 is designed as the continuation of 318 for students majoring in English, but either course may be taken on its own as a semester module.

Prerequisite pass module: English Studies 278 or English Studies 214 and English Studies 244

Department of General Linguistics10294 General Linguistics*178 (24) Introduction to Linguistics (3L, 1T)

Nature and objectives; functions of language; construction of (a) language out of a sound system, a meaning system, and systems for forming words and sentences; principles of language use; language diversity and variation; interaction between linguistic and social phenomena; language change; language acquisition; language in the brain; language production and perception.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

278 (32) Language and the Human Mind (3L)

Principles and practice of the analysis of language structure (syntax and phonology, other aspects of language structure); principles and practice of the analysis of language use (pragmatics/ discourse analysis); sociolinguistic aspects of language; core questions about language acquisition and language processing; capita selecta which contribute to the realisation of the outcomes of the module.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: General Linguistics 178

318 (24) Advanced Linguistics (4L)

Theoretical concepts and mechanisms in modern theories of language structure (syntax and morphology), with specific focus on the analysis of empirical phenomena relating to word and sentence structure in languages belonging to various families; capita selecta which contribute to the realisation of the outcomes of the module (e.g. variation in language, language origin, language change).

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: General Linguistics 278

348 (24) Advanced Linguistics (4L)

Fundamental principles, key concepts and research methods employed in various areas of applied linguistics, including (critical) discourse analysis, psycholinguistics, and language planning and language policy; capita selecta which contribute to the realisation of the outcomes of the module (e.g. topics in sociolinguistics, language acquisition, intercultural communication).

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: General Linguistics 278

93874 Applied English Language Studies

General provisions for Applied English Language Studies

1. Each year's offering is subject to the availability of staff.
2. English Studies 178 or General Linguistics 178 is a prerequisite pass module for Applied English Language Studies 214 and 244.
3. Applied English Language Studies may be taken concurrently with English Studies.
4. In the modules Applied English Language Studies 214, 244, 318 and 348 a system of flexible assessment by means of tests and assignments is used.

214 (16) Applied English Language Studies (3L)

Linguistic aspects of the use of English on both a macro and a micro level. The macro level includes a linguistic perspective on semantic and pragmatic properties of oral and written English. The micro level includes a linguistic perspective on making meaning in English, the use and abuse of English in different discourses, and the intertextual use of English, that is, the shaping of a text through the use of an array of other texts. Throughout the module students are introduced to the different principles and methods of conducting language studies.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: English Studies 178 or General Linguistics 178

244 (16) Applied English Language Studies (3L)

Linguistic aspects of the use of English on both a macro and a micro level. On the macro level, the focus is on structural and sociolinguistic properties of spoken and written English. On the micro level a linguistic perspective is provided on the grammatical structure of English and on aspects of the use of English in different societies. Throughout the module students are introduced to the different principles and methods of conducting language studies.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: English Studies 178 or General Linguistics 178

318 (24) Applied English Language Studies (3L, 2S)

Principles of language acquisition and use with specific reference to English. The module includes a study of the acquisition of English as a second (or additional) language; aspects of discourse analysis and/or intercultural communication; research methods in the collection, coding and analysis of data; capita selecta which contribute to the realisation of the outcomes of the module.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass modules: Applied English Language Studies 214 or 244

348 (24) Applied English Language Studies (3L, 2S)

The module focuses on variation and change in English, and includes a study of the principles of language change, with specific reference to English; variation in the English acquired by different second language learners; research methods in the collection, coding and analysis of data; capita selecta which contribute to the realisation of the outcomes of the module

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass modules: Applied English Language Studies 214 or 244

13521 Sign Language Studies

178 South African Sign Language Acquisition

Please note: This module will not necessarily be offered every year. For more information please contact the Department of General Linguistics.

The module focuses on comprehension and production skills in South African Sign Language, specifically on lexicon, structure and use of South African Sign Language as well as communication-related aspects of Deaf culture.

Students from any faculty or programme may take the module, provided that they have no prior formal training in South African Sign Language and do not use this language as home or additional language.

Method of assessment

Assessment is by means of:

- An oral examination at the end of each semester, conducted in South African Sign Language and assessing receptive and expressive language skills in this language; and
- Written and signed assignments.

318 (24) Sign Language Linguistics (3L, 1S)

The module focuses on the linguistic nature and properties of sign languages, specifically on the analysis of sign language structure and use; sociolinguistic aspects of sign languages; and core questions about the acquisition and processing of sign languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: General Linguistics 278

Department of Geography and Environmental Studies

64165 Geo-Environmental Science

Please note: Geo-Environmental Science 124 and 154 are corequisite modules for Geography and Environmental Studies 2 and 3.

124 (16) Introduction to Human-Environmental Systems (3L, 3P)

Nature of human geography; Demography of world population; Food resources; Urbanisation: models of urban structure, functional areas in cities, cities in developing countries; Politico-geographical organisation: nations and states in conflict, regions in the news; Environmental systems on a global scale: fluvial, arid, karst, coastal and glacial environments; Ecosystems and humans; Utilisation of environmental resources: global occurrence, use and depletion of non-renewable energy, water and soil resources; Practical mapping and graphics.

154 (16) Introduction to Earth Systems Science (3L, 3P)

Introduction to Earth Systems Science; Internal earth processes; Mineral- and rock-forming processes; Origin of magma and igneous rocks; External structure of the earth; Formation of continents; Plate tectonics; Sedimentary rocks and the geological record; Geological time scale; Metamorphic rocks and mountain building; Geology of South Africa; Energy and mineral resources; Humans and tectonics: earthquakes and volcanoes; The hydrosphere; Surface-water processes; Groundwater processes; Theory of the origin and evolution of life.

12923 Geographical Information Technology

211 (16) Earth Observation (3L, 3P)

Principles of remote sensing and earth observation; the electromagnetic spectrum; reflectance characteristics of various objects on the earth's surface; atmospherical interaction with electromagnetic energy; digital imagery; image resolution; satellite systems; image enhancement and pre-processing; unsupervised and supervised image classification; accuracy assessment; GIS integration.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Corequisite modules: Geography and Environmental Studies 214 or Geographical Information Technology 214; Mathematics 114 or Mathematics (Bio) 124

214 (16) Geographical Information Systems (3L, 3P)

Introductory overview and comprehension of GIS in the context of geo-information science; The nature of geographical data, data models, coordinate systems and map projections; GIS processes: data capturing, ordering and storage, manipulation and analysis; Map design and cartographic visualisation with a GIS; GIS applications.

Prerequisite module: Geo-Environmental Science 124

Corequisite module: Mathematics 114 or Mathematics (Bio) 124

241 (16) Spatial Data Management (3L, 3P)

Map projections and coordinate systems; spatial data modelling (e.g. vector, raster, object-orientated); topology and topological dimensions; topological-dimension conversions; geodatabases; data model and format conversions; data generalisation and aggregation.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite pass module: Geography and Environmental Studies 214 or Geographical Information Technology 214

242 (16) Digital Photogrammetry (3L, 3P)

Principles of digital photogrammetry; stereo vision and parallax; types of photogrammetry; image sourcing and acquisition; flight planning; sensor orientation and image characteristics; interior and exterior orientation; ground control and tie-point collection; least-squares adjustment and coordinate transformations; image processing (contrast and spectral enhancement, image matching, mosaicing); topographical-map production; GIS integration.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite modules: Geographical Information Technology 211; Mathematics 114 or Mathematics (Bio)

311 (16) Spatial Data Acquisition (3L, 3P)

Spatial data types and models, acquisition and creation of spatial data, digitising and scanning, field data collection, global navigation satellite systems, uncertainty and error, data quality, national and international data providers and warehouses, metadata and standards, spatial data as property, data sharing.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: Geographical Information Technology 241

312 (16) Spatial Analysis (3L, 3P)

Query operations and query languages; Geometric measures; Spatial analytical operations; Surface analysis; Geostatistics; Network analysis; Analysis design; Fuzzy sets.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite modules: Geography and Environmental Studies 214; Geographical Information Technology 241

341 (16) Spatial Modelling (3L, 3P)

Models in science; Spatial models: types, construction, design and development; Cartographic modelling: terminology, methodology, in and outputs, functions.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: Geographical Information Technology 312

342 (16) Earth Observation (3L, 3P)

Image pre-processing techniques (e.g. geometric, radiometric, atmospheric and topographic corrections); image transforms; geographical object-based image analysis (GEOBIA); image classification approaches and algorithms; earth observation workflows; image acquisition; GIS integration.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: Geographical Information Technology 211

56502 Geography and Environmental Studies

Please note

Geo-Environmental Science 124 and 154 are corequisites for Geography and Environmental Studies 2 and 3.

225 (16) Urban and Tourism Development (3L, 3P)

Urbanised world; Africa in the global context of urbanisation; Developed and developing cities parallel; Internal urban structure; Urban economy (including tourism potential); Housing; Transportation; Future urban form scenarios; Tourism geography concepts; Tourism and mobilities; Tourism development challenges.

Prerequisite module: Geo-Environmental Science 124

265 (16) Environmental Studies (3L, 3P)

Energy, moisture and wind as climatic elements; movement in the atmosphere: air circulation at global, regional and local scales; significant climatic phenomena to humans: El Niño, tropical cyclones and tornadoes; South African weather and climate; atmospheric environmental problems in South Africa: drought, air pollution, floods, hail and frost; analysis of climatic data: collection, processing and interpretation; synoptic maps and weather forecasting. Soil erosion, acid mine water drainage, water pollution, strategic risk management planning.

Prerequisite module: Geo-Environmental Science 124

314 (12) Geography of Tourism (2L)

Geographical concepts and tourism; tourism system; tourism industry; influences on tourism development: environmental and locational aspects, climate change, crime; tourist attractions and destinations; strategic importance for South Africa; transfrontier parks; industrial heritage; tourism environments: ecotourism, archaeotourism, urban tourism, medical tourism, food-and-wine tourism; tourism impacts; tourism development; imitation of place and time; world heritage sites; sustainable destinations.

Prerequisite module: Geography and Environmental Studies 225

323 (12) The South African City (2L)

Theory of urban structure: space and place in Western and Third World cities; transformation of the South African city: colonial to post-apartheid; cultural city image: mosaic of language, ethnic and minority groups; pressing urban problems: housing, service provision, social pathologies, urban management; sustainable urban development; case study: analysis and monitoring of transformation.

Prerequisite module: Geography and Environmental Studies 225

358 (16) Environmental Studies (3L, 3P)

Geomorphology of South African rivers and drainage basins: run-off regime, basin morphology, stream and channel patterns; human-induced changes in rivers and river basins: impoundment, canalisation, interbasin transfers; water quality in South Africa: interaction between humans and the environment with special reference to industrial and agricultural pollution; use, development and management of South African water resources: impact of the Water Act. South African environmental policies; Environmental impact assessment process.

Prerequisite module: Geography and Environmental Studies 265 or Environmental Geochemistry 214.

363 (16) Geographic Communication (3L, 3P)

Introductory survey and understanding of GIS; The nature of geographic data, data models, co-ordinate systems and map projections; GIS processes: data capture, classification and storage, manipulation and analysis; Map design and cartographic visualising with GIS; Application of GIS.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: Geo-Environmental Science 124

Department of History13463 History*114 (12) Introduction to the Main Global Patterns and Developments in History (3L)

Nomadic societies.

The agriculture revolution and the emergence of established societies.

The development of complex societies.

The emergence of modernity and the industrial revolution.

The historical construction of the modern globalising world.

144 (12) Survey of South African History (3L, 1T)

Please note the following admission requirements:

1. For students who enrol in the Programme in Socio-Informatics: at least 50% for Mathematics in the NSC.
2. For all other students who enrol for the subject Socio-Informatics via any other programme in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences: either 50% in Mathematics in the NSC or at least 70% in Mathematical Literacy in the NSC.

114 (12) The Knowledge Economy and Society (3L)

The emergence and nature of the knowledge economy and society.

Method of assessment: Examination

144 (12) Technology, Organisation and Society (3L)

The role of technological systems in contemporary organisations and societies.

Method of assessment: Examination

212 (8) Information Systems Introduction (2L)

This module looks at the principles and methods of Information Systems development. The module commences with a broad overview of the key principles of information systems, before focusing on a collection of prominent developmental approaches.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

224 (16) Introduction to Computer Programming (2L, 2P)

Principles of computer programming. Skills development in object-oriented programme languages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

254 (16) Internet Technology and Design (1L, 3P)

The internet and the world wide web. Architecture of hypertext systems. The design of web sites and portals.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

262 (8) Electronic Business and Government (2L)

The management of private and public organisations in contexts rich in information and knowledge technology.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

314 (18) Database Systems (3L, 2P)

Database concepts, models, design and management.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: Socio-Informatics 224

334 (18) Architecture of Information Systems and Enterprises (2L, 3P)

Theory of software and hardware systems and their design and analysis. Cybernetics. Introduction to modelling and modelling languages such as UML.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

354 (18) Information Systems (2L, 3P)

Advanced software applications, such as simulation and modelling. Integration of preceding modules through the design and presentation of an elementary, experimental system.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite module: Socio-Informatics 254, 314, 334

364 (18) Knowledge Dynamics and Knowledge Management (3L, 1P)

Knowledge technology, knowledge-based systems, artificial intelligence and knowledge dynamics in complex organisations.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

53899 Information Skills172 (6) Information and Computer Competence (1L, 1P)

Study and practice of information usage, the WWW and selected software programs – such as word processing, databases, spreadsheets and presentations – that are necessary for communication and information purposes in the humaniora.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

174 (12) Basic Information and Computer Competence (1L, 2P, 1T)

Introduction into the meaningful and productive use of computers and information systems to find information and to manipulate and present such information visually, numerically, verbally and in sound for use in academic contexts. Ethics and etiquette of virtual communication, legal aspects of computer usage, electronic source retrieval, academic reference systems. Basic functionality in a variety of widely used software packages.

Department of Modern Foreign Languages

11302 Chinese

Special provisions for Chinese

1. Chinese 178 is a module for beginners. No previous knowledge of Chinese is required. The module is designed to provide basic intercultural communication skills. It enables students to understand, speak, read and, to a lesser degree, write contemporary Chinese in everyday situations, which includes a basic knowledge of the present-day situation in China.
2. A system of flexible assessment is used.
3. Chinese is offered as a foreign language and therefore Chinese-speaking students are not allowed to follow the modules.
4. Further details of all modules are available in the Department's study guides and on the webpage at www.sun.ac.za/forlang.

178 (24) Introduction to the Chinese Language and Culture (3L, 1P, 1T)

Introductory language study, including phonetics.

Introduction to contemporary China based on a selection of topics.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Note

Chinese 178 is a module for beginners. No previous knowledge of Chinese is required. The module is designed to provide basic intercultural communication skills. It enables students to understand, speak, read and, to a lesser degree, write contemporary Chinese in everyday situations, which includes a basic knowledge of the present-day situation in China.

278 (32) Continued Study of Chinese Language and Culture (4L, 1P)

Basic concepts and principles of Chinese as a foreign language.

Comparative study of culture based on a selection of topics.

13145 French*Specific provisions for French*

1. French 178 is offered for beginners; no prior knowledge of French is required. The module is designed to provide basic intercultural communication skills. It enables students to understand, speak, read and, to a lesser degree, write contemporary French in everyday situations, which includes a basic knowledge of the present-day situation in France.
French 188 makes special provision for students who passed French in Grade 12 or who, in the opinion of the Department, have reached an equivalent standard.
Students who passed French in Grade 12 but who, according to the departmental Chair, are not sufficiently prepared for French 188, may be allowed to register for French 178, following early assessment and/or a departmental aptitude test.
2. The second- and third-year courses lead to advanced proficiency in intercultural communication. Like the first-year courses, they focus on the present-day situation, but also include its historical dimension. The emphasis falls on students' ability:
 - a) to understand and to use texts (in the extensive meaning of the term) by way of contrasting cultures, which requires, among other things:
 - an insight into communication processes,
 - an understanding of the basic principles of text analysis,
 - a critical awareness of the differences between source and target culture;
 - b) to demonstrate the above skills both orally and in writing. Self-tuition courses and computer modules are provided to improve and enhance the acquired knowledge, insight and skills.
3. At the end of every year students may take the respective DELF/DALF examinations of the French Department of Education.
4. Flexible assessment is used in all undergraduate modules.
5. At the undergraduate level, French is taught as a foreign language and for this reason the following groups of students are excluded from undergraduate modules in French: French-speaking students and students who spend extended periods of time in Francophone countries and who, in the opinion of the Department, do not qualify as learners of French as a foreign language.
6. Further details of all modules are available in the Department's study guide and on the web page at www.sun.ac.za/forlang.

178 (24) Introduction to the French Language and Culture (3L, 1P, 1T)For students without French in Grade 12.

Specific provision for German

1. German 178 is offered for beginners; no prior knowledge of German is required. The module is designed to provide basic intercultural communication skills. It enables students to understand, speak, read and, to a lesser degree, write contemporary German in everyday situations; this includes acquiring a basic knowledge of the present-day situation in the German-speaking countries.

German 178 normally gives access to German 278. Students who do exceptionally well in German 178 may be granted access to German 288 by means of a Departmental recommendation and the writing of a special entrance examination. This examination is written in the first two weeks after the start of classes in February. If these students fail German 288, they may fall back to German 278 in the following year.

German 188 makes special provision for students who passed German in Grade 12 or who are in possession of an equivalent qualification. Students proceed from German 188 to German 288. Students who passed German in Grade 12 but who, according to the Departmental Chair, are not sufficiently prepared for German 188, may be allowed to register for German 178 following early assessment and/or a departmental aptitude test.

2. Students who passed German (Mother-tongue) in Grade 12 with a B symbol or higher can, on the Department's recommendation through the Senate or the Executive Committee acting on the latter's behalf, be admitted directly to German 288, provided that they pass a special admission examination during the first two weeks after the start of classes in February. To comply with the credit requirements for a BA, such students must take another language or General Linguistics at first-year level.
3. The second- and third-year courses lead to advanced proficiency in intercultural communication. Like the first-year courses, they focus on the present-day situation, but they include its historical dimension. The emphasis falls on students' abilities:
 - a) to understand and to use texts (in the extensive meaning of the term) by way of contrasting cultures, which requires, among other things,
 - o an insight into communication processes,
 - o an understanding of the basic principles of text analysis,
 - o a critical awareness of the differences between source and target culture;
 - b) to demonstrate the above skills both orally and in writing. Self-tuition courses and computer modules are provided to improve and enhance the acquired knowledge, insight and skills.
4. Based on a recommendation by the Department, students who do exceptionally well in German 278, may continue with German 328 and after that with German 358. If these students fail German 328, they may fall back to German 318 in the following year.

In their third year, students' language skills are developed up to the level of the Goethe-Zertifikat B1 examination of the Goethe Institute, which can be written at predetermined dates set by the Department.
5. Flexible assessment is used in all undergraduate modules.
6. Further details of all modules are available in the Department's study guide and on the web page at www.sun.ac.za/forlang.

Department of Music

General information for prospective students

All programmes in the Department of Music are selection programmes. During the selection audition candidates must provide proof of the prescribed standard as required for each programme.

1. Practical Music Study

1.1 Choice of instrument: The Music Department offers the following: Keyboard instruments (Piano, Harpsichord and Organ), Recorder, Guitar, Voice, Saxophone, any instrument of the Symphonic Orchestra, as well as Conducting and Church Music (a combination of organ and choral conducting). From the third year in the BMus programme, within the Practical Performance specialisation, it is also possible to major in Chamber Music and Accompaniment.)

Students are only permitted to register for a maximum of two instruments, of which at least one must be a major instrument (A level).

1.2 Practical Music Study A: The first-year entry level is equal to that of Grade VII Unisa examination standard. All first-year degree and diploma students must register for either Practical Music Study A (24) or Practical Music Study A (36).

1.3 Practical Music Study B: All first- and second-year BMus students may also register for another practical subject in which a level of at least Grade V Unisa examination standard must be achieved within the first year. Practical Music Study B(12) is offered in group context. Students may opt to register for the second instrument as Practical Music Study A(12), in which case tuition will be offered individually. Admission is subject to a selection process and/or audition, as well as the availability of staff.

Where piano accompaniment is required for those who take instruments or voice, students are personally responsible for the engagement of an accompanist and to cover the financial costs incurred.

Practical Music Study A and B combinations:

BMus (first and second year)

- Practical Music Study A(36), if the student only plays the main instrument;
or
- Practical Music Study A(24) main instrument, plus
Practical Music Study B(12) second instrument (group tuition)
or
- Practical Music Study A(24) main instrument, plus
Practical Music Study A(12) second instrument (individual tuition)

In the third year, only Practical Music Study A is continued, on two different credit levels (24 or 12), depending on the student's specialisation route.

BAMus (first to third year)

- Practical Music Study A(24)

BAMus students may register for a second instrument as "Konservatorium student". Admission is subject to a selection process and/or audition, as well as the availability of staff.

1.4 Practical Music Study S: For students who have demonstrated sufficient potential for solo performance during an assessment of Practical Music Study 2A. These students may register from their third year for Practical Music Study S level (performance level). Admission is subject to a selection process and/or an audition.

1.5 Practical Music Study E: Only applicable to non-music students, i.e. university students who are registered for Practical Music Study as an extra subject, on a part-time basis. Admission is subject to selection and to the availability of full-time practical staff. This module can be taken on A or B level (on a comparable standard as for BMus students). Students who take this module on the B level must, in addition to their practical work, also submit two assignments (one per semester). In consultation with their practical lecturers, the assignments may be in the field of history or theory of music.

Students may only register for Practical Music Study E after they have done an audition and have written permission from the Music Department.

Where piano accompaniment is required for those who take instruments or voice, students are personally responsible for the engagement of an accompanist and to cover the financial costs incurred.

Konservatorium students: The following persons may register for practical tuition as "Konservatorium student" at the Music Department (pending selection and availability of staff):

- Full-time music students (who wish to study more instruments (or voice), students than required for their degree/diploma or certificate programme), e.g. BAMus students who wish to register for more than their main instrument.
- Other Stellenbosch University students, as well as learners from outside the University. SU students may choose to take the Department's practical examinations.

Where piano accompaniment is required for those who take instruments or voice, students are personally responsible for the engagement of an accompanist and to cover the financial costs incurred.

2. Orchestral Practice

This is a compulsory module (co-requisite) for all students who take an orchestral instrument as their Major instrument.

Orchestral Practice is a compulsory attendance subject for students who register for Practical Music Study A 378 and 478 as orchestral instrument. Unsatisfactory attendance will result in a 10% penalty of the class mark of their major instrument.

Students should note that attendance at all rehearsals (as members of recognised orchestras within the department) is compulsory. This may result in some students being required to participate in more than one ensemble.

Practical Music E students, Konservatorium students and students who take an orchestral instrument as a second main instrument, are strongly advised to participate in one of the Department's orchestras, in consultation with the lecturer concerned.

3. Integrated Academic Support

Students who, during the selection process for the degree programmes in music, are identified as requiring academic support, must register for the bridging module Musicology 271 (Music Skills) as an additional subject, and also take part in any other kind of bridging work prescribed by the Department. Students are required to pass this module before they will be allowed to proceed with Music Theory 222 and 252.

Alternatively, students who have deficiencies over a wide range of music skills may first be advised to complete the entire year of the Higher Certificate in Music at the Department of Music before they reapply for admission to one of the degree programmes in music in the following year.

The Department of Music also offers a three-year Diploma (Practical Music), specifically for students who would like to specialise in the practical aspects of music at an advanced level, but for whom, because of limited theoretical and/or academic background, the degree programmes in music are not accessible.

4. BA subjects

BMus students should note that only certain BA subjects which appear on the official timetable of the University are taken into consideration by the Department when setting up its internal class timetable, thus enabling music students to choose these traditionally sought-after BA subjects.

NB: Should Mathematics 114 and 144 be chosen in the first year, Grade 12 Mathematics code 5 (60%) is a prerequisite.

5. Lectures (L) and Tutorials (T)

Class lectures and tutorials are normally 50 minutes in length; all weekly practical under- and postgraduate lessons are units of 60 minutes or more.

6. Concerts and Performance Classes

Students should also be aware that it is compulsory to attend a prescribed number of concerts presented by the Konservatorium and the Performance Classes presented by the Music Department.

In both instances unsatisfactory attendance will result in a 10% penalisation of the class mark of their major instrument.

7. Second Examination Opportunity

Students are obliged to use the first examination opportunity for all practical modules in the Department of Music.

Department of Psychology*Important notice to all students wishing to study Psychology*

Students wishing to proceed to postgraduate study in Psychology are warned that there is enormous pressure for places in the Honours programme in Psychology and in the Psychology Master's programme in Clinical Psychology. The vast majority of people who meet the basic stipulated requirements for admission to these degrees will not be offered places because of the pressure on space and stringent selection processes. Students with an interest in postgraduate study in psychology are advised:

- to ensure that their undergraduate performance is exceptionally good;
- if they are interested in a career in clinical or counselling psychology, to gain extra experience in human service work through volunteer or other relevant opportunities;
- to be able to demonstrate at least basic proficiency in an indigenous South African language apart from Afrikaans;
- to plan their curricula so that they consider alternative career paths, as, even if they meet all the above criteria, they may not be admitted to Honours or Master's study in Psychology.

18414 Psychology114 (12) Psychology as a Science (2L, 1T)

This module is an introduction to psychology both as a science and a profession, with specific emphasis on psychological issues that are relevant in the South African context. Psychology is positioned at the convergence of a number of traditions of research and practice, including biological, philosophical and pragmatic traditions. This introductory module gives students a basis from which to approach further study of the discipline.

144 (12) Psychology in Context (2L, 1T)

In this module the basic principles in psychology are applied in order to understand the person in context, with particular reference to core social issues and challenges facing South African society.

213 (8) Approaches to Psychological Theories of the Person (1.5L)

This module addresses psychological theories and understandings of the person with reference to major contemporary approaches. Theories to be considered may include systemic, psychodynamic, behavioural, cognitive and existential components, with consideration of the applicability of psychological theories to African contexts.

Prerequisite modules: Psychology 114, 144

Prerequisite modules: Text in the Humanities 113, 143

143 (12) Texts in the Humanities (Continued) (2L, 2T)

The module continues the development of knowledge, capacities and skills in reading and writing academic texts, as introduced in Texts in the Humanities 113. In particular, the module is directed toward the study of critical thinking, logic and argumentation and logical fallacies.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

153 (12) Texts in the Humanities (3L, 1T)

This module provides the student with the knowledge and skills to understand and conduct research at an introductory level. The module is directed towards a basic understanding of research in the Humanities and Social Sciences, with a particular focus on research hypotheses, cause and effect relationships, claims and evidence, research paradigms, research methodology and research ethics.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Prerequisite modules: Text in the Humanities 113, 123, 143

53899 Information Skills

This is an extended module which includes a basis component as well as the full contents of Information Skills 172. On completion of this module, students comply with the requirements of Information Skills 172.

174 (12) Basic Information and Computer Competence (1L, 2P, 1T)

Introduction into the meaningful and productive use of computers and information systems to find information and to manipulate and present such information visually, numerically, verbally and in sound for use in academic contexts. Ethics and etiquette of virtual communication, legal aspects of computer usage, electronic source retrieval, academic reference systems. Basic functionality in a variety of widely used software packages.

Method of assessment: Flexible assessment

Research and Service Bodies

In this chapter the research and service bodies that reside in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences are presented.

1. Africa Open Institute for Music, Research and Innovation

Africa Open is an interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary institute for music, research and innovation in Africa located in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Africa Open incorporates the Documentation Centre for Music (DOMUS), housed as a Special Collections section of the Music Library, which is part of the Stellenbosch University (SU) Library and Information Service. Africa Open is a Type II institute.

The vision of Africa Open is to create the largest, safest, technologically most advanced open access music archive in Africa, while providing leading edge, networked intellectual space for research, innovation and critical thinking focused on creative music projects in an African context. Africa Open engages in the following core activities:

- Heritage Preservation: As a core asset of Africa Open, DOMUS will continue to order, catalogue and extract value from collections acquired by or bequeathed to it, with particular emphasis on community imperatives.
- Creation of Open Access: The digitisation of Africa Open's collections and its presentation on open-source technology platforms will create access to engage with a growing community of international researchers, composers and performing artists.
- Independent Research: Africa Open will bring together diverse and knowledgeable teams of researchers and artists to engage with and develop interdisciplinary and innovative perspectives on disciplinary challenges.
- Collaborative Research: Through a Visiting Fellows Programme, Africa Open will facilitate creative encounters across continents, musical genres and multiple contexts.
- Postgraduate Research: Through its affiliation with the University of Stellenbosch, Africa Open's growing depository of documents and artefacts will provide material for Master's, Doctoral and Post-doctoral studies and capacity to supervise such students, while simultaneously improving the quality and value of Africa Open's data assets.
- Postgraduate Degrees: Students who choose to read towards postgraduate degrees in disciplines associated with specific departments, for example Music, will register for Master's and PhD degrees as defined in the SU Yearbook for such departments.

2. Centre for Applied Ethics

History

The Centre for Applied Ethics is an interdisciplinary research and service institution located in the Department of Philosophy.

Objectives

The thematic aims of the Centre are to identify and analyse the problems that arise when ethical norms are applied in decision-making processes in fields such as the following:

- Research, therapeutic and supply practices in medicine, biology and genetics;
- Business activities and managerial practice;
- Activities with detrimental consequences for the maintenance and conservation of the physical and social environment of humans; and
- The creation of an organised and just society and division of privileges in society.

The activity aims of the Centre are:

- To initiate, undertake and publish multi- and interdisciplinary baseline research on ethical problems; and
- To make information available and give advice to institutions that are responsible for policy formulation and legislation.

The Centre consists of four units, namely the Unit for Bioethics, the Unit for Environmental Ethics, the Unit for Business Ethics and the Unit for Social and Political Ethics.

The Unit for Bio-ethics

The Unit focuses on problems that arise from the application of values and ethical norms in the research and therapeutic procedures of modern medical science.

Research is done on problems related to the distribution of health care as well as on Aids, abortion, reproductive technology, euthanasia, genetic manipulation, etc.

The Unit is active in two sections – one on the Stellenbosch campus and the other on the Tygerberg campus. The latter offers courses on medical research ethics and provides consultation services.

The Unit for Environmental Ethics

The main objective of this Unit is research and critical discussion of the application of ethical norms on environmental problems that arise within South Africa as a developing country. The Unit strives to stimulate a sensitivity to the importance of ethical principles in decision-making on the terrain of environmental management, and it endeavours to create greater co-operation between academic, labour and interest groups on environmental problems.

The Unit does research, provides policy advice, presents courses for extra-university institutions and organises discussions on environmental issues and values.

The Unit for Business Ethics

This Unit focuses on the needs and training of South African managers. Business Ethics is a compulsory course in the MBA programme of the Business School of Stellenbosch University and is included in most of its service programmes.

Besides teaching, this Unit also undertakes research on ethical codes, case studies, the management of values and diversity, affirmative action, white-collar crime, etc.

The Unit for Social and Political Ethics (PROSPER)

PROSPER (Promoting Social and Political Ethics Research) focuses on research, teaching and public discussion on ethical issues related to decision-making, actions and policy in the social and political environment.

The Unit conducts research on ethical questions concerning social and political institutions, policy formulation, historical injustice, immigration, the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge, the role of technology, and the concepts by means of which we reason about these questions.

3. Centre for Bible Interpretation and Translation in Africa

History

The Centre for Bible Interpretation and Translation in Africa is located in the Departments of Ancient Studies and Old and New Testament. The Centre is an interdisciplinary research and service institution that co-ordinates and advances academic expertise in the field of Bible Translation through research and facilitation in order to render a service to Bible interpretation and Bible translation in general, but in particular in Africa.

Objectives

- To conduct research, on project basis and in co-operation with other experts, within and outside the University, on relevant aspects of Bible interpretation, Bible translation and the reception of the Bible.
- To gather information, by means of regular contact with all relevant parties involved in the interpretation, translation or reception of the Bible (e.g. Bible translation agencies, training institutions, churches, Bible study groups or individuals) on the African continent, on the need for research, advice or practical help, so that the research and other projects being undertaken will not be merely theoretical, but also practical in their orientation.
- To discuss research results through national and international academic publications, symposiums, workshops and/or conferences and to make available tested findings to Bible translators and interested members of the public through scientific and popular publications.
- To establish a framework, in co-operation with institutions in control of Bible translation in Africa, related departments at the University and other relevant training institutions, for the equipping and training of Bible translators and assisting researchers concerning Bible translation.
- To assemble and maintain on a continuing basis, in co-operation with existing national and international information access programmes, accessible computerised information banks concerning the field of Bible interpretation, translation and reception in Africa.
- To provide advice, if and when so requested, to concerned expositors, translators or users of the Bible.
- To undertake on a practical project basis translation and/or the assembling of aids for understanding the Bible or portions thereof for specific groups of readers and purposes.

4. Centre for Comic, Illustrative and Book Arts (CCIBA)

History

The Centre, which was established in 2009, is an interdisciplinary research, teaching and service institute based in the Department of Visual Arts.

Objectives

The Centre involves various dimensions of Comic, Illustrative and Book Arts with the following goals:

- To provide a meaningful contribution to the development of research and publishing in these disciplines.
- To improve the quality of teaching, research and service in these fields at Stellenbosch University, in order to position the University as the leading university in this field in South Africa, and as a recognised centre of excellence in these disciplines.
- To improve public perception of Comic, Illustrative and Book Arts in South Africa, and to improve the international profile of South Africa in these disciplines.
- To support the development of South African cartoonists, comic artists and illustrators through the organisation and development of appropriate exhibitions, publications and training courses, as well as other educational, networking and mentoring opportunities.
- To facilitate collaborations and dialogues with comic artists and illustrators in other countries, especially in the SADC region.
- To provide a national forum and a range of services and resources to South African comic artists and illustrators.
- To generate the necessary revenue to accomplish these aims through fundraising and business activities.
- To establish a permanent collection and Archive of South African comic, illustration and book Arts based at the Stellenbosch University Library and Museum.
- To identify problems and needs in the above-mentioned areas with a view to develop, promote and sustain these disciplines nationally and internationally.

5. Centre for Community Psychology Services

History

The Centre for Community Psychological Services is made up of two units, the Unit for Psychology and the Unit for Educational Psychology, which respectively are situated in, and function within, the Department of Psychology and the Department of Educational Psychology.

Objectives

The aims of the Centre are:

- The delivery of psychological services to, and in co-operation with, the community;
- The use of such services as training opportunities for postgraduate students; and
- The use of such services to create research opportunities for members of staff and students in the Departments.

6. Centre for Geographical Analysis (CGA)

History

The Centre for Geographical Analysis (CGA) is a research and service institution of Stellenbosch University based within the Department of Geography and Environmental Studies.

Objectives

The objectives of the Centre are:

- To conduct basic and applied research on environmental, urban and regional problems through utilisation of geographical-analytical methods;
- To provide a service to the community by undertaking research and training on request from private and public institutions.

The CGA specialises in the application of geographical information systems, satellite remote sensing and other geographical-analytical techniques in carrying out its research, training and service-provision functions.

Contact details

For more information, visit us at www.sun.ac.za/cga or contact Prof A van Niekerk at avn@sun.ac.za or 021 808 3101.

7. Centre for Knowledge Dynamics and Decision-making

History

The Centre performs interdisciplinary research, service, marketing and networking activities under the auspices of the Department of Information Science and reports to the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences.

Objectives

The Centre focuses on the various dimensions of the dynamic in modern society in general and organisations in particular through which information is created, interpreted and converted into meaningful knowledge and productive decision-making.

Examples of these dimensions are:

- Hermeneutics
- Sense-making and decision-making in organisations
- Values and value systems
- Knowledge management
- Electronic decision-making support
- The learning organisation and organisational design
- Knowledge creation and leadership

The Centre performs its task through dedicated research; relevant network creation (both inside and outside the University context) and strategic partnerships with universities and non-university institutions; services as needed; and the market-related offers of selected knowledge products.

8. Centre for Regional and Urban Innovation and Statistical Exploration (CRUISE)

History

The Centre for Regional and Urban Innovation and Statistical Exploration (CRUISE) is a research unit based within the Department of Geography and Environmental Studies. The Centre was established in 2009.

Objectives

The Centre's teaching and research aims are the following:

- To understand how cities work as instruments of social and economic networks, locally and internationally, and what the data and research requirements are for informed urban development policy-making in those fields;
- An overall understanding of the options that are available for service provision in the urban environment in the developed and developing world and creative ways in which it could be expanded or improved upon;
- How cities and city systems can be used for economic growth and for the creation of employment opportunities;
- To understand the planning approach to urban and regional development in South Africa and how urban management is approached differently in other parts of the world;
- To develop the skill of identifying and applying appropriate techniques for the study of different kinds of human activities and the ability to correctly judge what the data requirements are for such analyses;
- To understand the application range of different geographical information technologies designed for socio-economic spatial analysis and decision-making;
- To develop the skills of oral and printed communication techniques and how to utilise modern electronic hardware and software as instruments of communication; and
- To conduct basic and applied urban system-related research.

9. Centre for Research on Evaluation, Science and Technology (CREST)

History

The Centre for Research on Evaluation, Science and Technology is a research institution of Stellenbosch University. The Centre was established as a research centre on the 1st of January 1995 in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. In January 2010 it also became an academic department within the same Faculty.

Objectives

The objectives of the Centre are:

- To conduct research on the nature of science and technology with specific reference to science and technology policy in South Africa and Africa;
- To conduct research on, and improve, the 'meta-fields' of methodology and sociology of science.

These objectives will be realised by:

- Research on the emergence of interdisciplinarity in the sciences;
- Research on the methodology of the social sciences;
- Research on the sociology of science with a specific focus on science policy studies;
- Workshops and conferences on methodology, sociology of science and science policy;
- A directed publication programme whereby the research findings of the Centre are published as widely as possible;
- An active programme of local and international networking.

Since the main objective of the Centre, to engage in meta-science studies, is interdisciplinary by definition, the Centre aims to work in cooperation with other scientific disciplines wherever possible.

The Centre is managed by an advisory committee and answers to the Faculty Board of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences.

For more information, visit us at <https://www0.sun.ac.za/crest> or contact Prof J Mouton at jm6@sun.ac.za or 021 808 3708.

10. HUMARGA

History

HUMARGA (the Computer Users' Area for the Humanities) is used by students of the Faculties of Arts and Social Sciences, Education, Law and Theology. There are computer facilities at each of these faculties, and specialised equipment and software at the Departments of Visual Arts, Geography and Environmental Studies, Journalism and Music. The main facility in the Arts and Social Sciences building opened in 1999.

Objectives

The management strives to make work areas and technology available to provide students with optimal and uninterrupted access to electronic resources and to offer electronic class rooms and support services that make a proven contribution to teaching. These services include network space, e-mail, internet, multipurpose printers, specialised software and the latest technology.

HUMARGA strives to make cutting-edge technology available in a sustainable manner, so as to help our students achieve their goals.

The help desk is at the main facility in the Arts and Social Sciences Building (tel. 021 808 2129, humarga@sun.ac.za) and is open during office hours, while the general computer users' are available 24 hours a day. Strict access control measures are employed to ensure the safety of students.

HUMARGA is as far as possible accessible to persons with disabilities and co-operates closely with the Office for Students with Special Learning Needs and the Lombardi Braille Centre, which is situated at HUMARGA. The Lombardi Braille Centre can also be contacted at braille@sun.ac.za.

11. Research Alliance for Disaster and Risk Reduction (RADAR)

History

The Research Alliance for Disaster and Risk Reduction (RADAR) is a research and service institution of Stellenbosch University based within the Department of Geography and Environmental Studies.

Objectives

RADAR's objectives are to:

- Offer academic and professional disaster-risk-related programmes and modules.
- Produce and disseminate research that improves understanding and management of disaster risks.

- Advance disaster risk awareness through training, policy advocacy and strategic continental engagement.
- Establish partnerships and build networks with relevant role players in disaster and risk reduction.

	Subject offered only at second- and third-year level.
-	Not applicable.
	Subjects cannot be combined.
1	Subjects can be combined only at first year level.
2	Subjects can be combined only up to second year level.
!	Indicates special conditions that are described in the notes below.

Notes

- Chinese 178 and French 188 exclude one another.
- Chinese 318 and Geography and Environmental Studies 323 exclude one another, as well as Chinese 348 and Geography and Environmental Studies 358.
- Chinese and Social Anthropology may be combined only in the second year and only in the programme for International Studies.
- German 178 and German 188 exclude one another.
- German 318 and 348 can be combined with History 3.
- German 328 and 358 can be combined with Latin 3 and Psychology 3.
- French 178 and French 188 exclude one another.
- Geography 334 also cannot be combined with Economics 318.
- Geography and Env. Studies may be combined with Socio-Informatics in the second and third year only in the programme for Socio-Informatics.
- Meta Science 345: Students who wish to combine this module with Biblical Hebrew 3, French 3, History 3 or Psychology 3 must first ensure that this does not cause timetable clashes.
- Sign Language Studies: Students who wish to combine modules from this subject with Geo-Environmental Science, German, Greek, History, Socio-Informatics, Sport Science or Theatre Studies must first ensure that this does not cause timetable clashes.
- Students in the programme BA (Law) who have passed Classical Legal Culture, may take Ancient Cultures in the second and third year.
- Xhosa 178 and Xhosa 188 exclude one another.

Apart from the above, more exclusions may be prescribed by each programme.
